REBELS TAKE MEXICAN CITIES

PLAN CAPTURE OF MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—While President Huerta and his subservient Congress are clinging to the policy of defiance to the United States, the rebels, North and South, are winning successes that point to the early fall of the capital.

TO JOIN FORCES WITH CARRANZA.

Bodies of insurgents that have been operating independently in the States of Michoacan and Zacatecas are reported to be marching to join the forces under General Venustiano Carranza. This, it is pointed out, is part of the preliminary movement to a general campaign against Mexico City.

Another rebel advance upon Torreon is reported while private dispatches carried an unconfirmed report of the capture of Tampico, an important export centre, by rebels.

General Villa's men are reported to have seized Munica and Cosihuirichio in the State of Coahuila.

The war office is trying by all means possible to keep the people in ignorance of rebel successes, but it is impossible to hide the fact that the federals are steadily meeting with reverses.

Huerta Clings to Office.

Strengthened in his stand of defiance

Wilson Abandons New Year Reception

President Again Breaks Tradition of a Century.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Society received today the greatest shock administered since President Wilson assumed office. Official announcement was made that the annual New Year's reception, which has been held at the White House for nearly a century, will be abandoned for the present.

Secretary Tumulty issued the following statement:

"The usual New Year's reception of the President will not be held January 1, 1914. The departure from custom on this occasion is due to the fact that the President will not be in Washington at that time. Owing to the long session of Congress, the President has had no vacation since his inauguration. As the approaching session of Congress will be a long session, the only opportunity for the President to secure a rest will be during the usual holiday recess of Congress."

CRIMSON FEARS GUERNSEY, YALE KICKING STAR

Yale startled Harvard followers at the Stadium today by uncovering in young Guernsey a drop-kicker who gave a performance as good as any Brickley, the famed Harvard booter, has produced this year.

In practice on the gridiron where tomorrow's battle will be fought, Guernsey negotiated nine out of every ten goals he attempted. They were all kicked from distances at from thirty to forty-five yards. One from the forty-five-yard line was a particularly beautiful performance.

Young Guernsey's work proved the sensation of the day in happenings on the eve of the big battle tomorrow afternoon. Other developments in the general outpouring of Crimson-Blue enthusiasm were as follows:

An advance crowd of 50,000 already in Boston for the great Stadium struggle.

A ticket "famine" and skyhigh prices for what few tickets could be had.

Fairly brisk betting with Harvard the favorite at ten to seven and in cases at ten to eight, though Yale takers generally tried to get ten to six odds.

The great weather uncertainty—the weather man predicting unsettled, though warmer weather for tomorrow afternoon.

Yale Men Practice.

While the Harvard football squad was resting up at the Vesper Country Club near Lowell, the Yale squad went over to the Stadium from the Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, to accustom themselves to the field upon which tomorrow's game will be played. The gridiron had been covered with hay to keep it in condition for tomorrow's classic football struggle. A space was raked clear down the centre of the field.

For a half hour the Yale regulars had fast signal practice. The way they ran

It may rain tomorrow afternoon for that big Harvard-Yale game. The Weather Bureau announced this officially today, saying the chances are about even for showers.

Curtis Escapes as Auto Strikes Train

Thomas P. Curtis, treasurer of the Lord Electric Company at No. 112 Water street and a prominent Boston clubman, had a narrow escape from serious injury early today, when his automobile crashed through the railroad gates in Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, into the side of a box car.

The automobile and box car were badly damaged. Curtis escaped with a cut over his right eye. He claims there were no lights on the railroad gates and was unaware of the presence of a train on the crossing until too late to avoid an accident. Curtis lives at No. 447 Beacon street, Back Bay. The train was side-tracked while the damaged freight car was cut out.

Gather at Bier of Woman 'Dead' Twice

Relatives and friends for the second time this week have gathered at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth V. Ciriack at No. 14 Echo place, Lynn, to attend her funeral, which is to be held tomorrow. The woman's illness baffled physicians for a long time.

She stopped breathing last Friday and her pulse stopped for intervals of several minutes. The family, supposing her dead, notified her relatives. Fellow employes of her husband, Henry V. Ciriack, at the General Electric plant sent flowers to the home for her funeral.

When the relatives arrived in answer to the summons they found Mrs. Ciriack alive, and she lived four more days. She had been ill for several months with an incurable disease.

MEXICAN CONGRESS STANDS BY THE DICTATOR

toward the United States by the action of the new Congress in endorsing his dissolution of the previous Chamber of Deputies, he proceeded today with plans for a session of Congress that will last far into December.

At the same time Senor Moheno, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and other supporters of the government, were industriously circulating rumors that the United States would soon recognize Huerta's government. Moheno said to friends who visited him after the first session of Congress had adjourned:

"I have reason to believe that President Wilson will soon recognize General Huerta's government."

No credence was given to this report among members of the diplomatic corps who have been officially advised that it is the intention of President Wilson never to recognize Huerta or his acts. As a result of the Congressional endorsement of General Huerta, the way is now clear for him to retire "with honor," but his friends declared today that he had no intention of surrendering office at the present time.

"Mexico will be revolted if any attempt is made to force General Huerta from power," said an aide de camp of the dictator. "This country is able to take care of its own internal affairs."

Congress With the Dictator.

Then he pointed out a part of the speech made by Senor Temaris, presiding officer of the Chamber of Deputies, after General Huerta's message had been received last evening, as an evidence that Huerta will have general support in resisting any demands by the United States. Senor Temaris had said:

"You can count upon our co-operation in maintaining national sovereignty which you have sustained up to today, and you can count also upon us to help you to bring about peace and union of all Mexicans."

The failure of twenty-seven Catholic members of Congress to attend the opening session shows, however, that Huerta is unable to dictate to all the legislators. These twenty-seven will be unable to defeat the plans made by the Huertista members, and it is probable that they will take no part in the procedings.

An additional element of danger was given to the international situation today by the news that Everisto and Daniel Madero have sought refuge in the American consulate at Vera Cruz. It is understood that General Maas, the federal commander there, has demanded their surrender to the Mexican officials.

Program of Pacification.

The real legislative work of Congress is scheduled to begin this evening. The original plan of merely indorsing Huerta's actions and declaring the presidential and vice-presidential elections void has apparently been supplanted by a program of ambitious legislation embracing ways and means of raising money so as to make foreign loans unnecessary. In fact, the length of the term is uncertain for General Huerto is understood to be insisting that Congress officially go on record with a program for the pacification of the country.

The grave questions of raising money and pacification are so closely linked that General Huerta and his advisers believe that the legislators can work upon both at the same time. The method of replenishing the national treasury now thought to be the most feasible is the granting of mineral concessions in consideration for sums of cash paid directly to the government.

It is estimated that the government could raise probably $10,000,000 without much difficulty by granting oil concessions and rights for railroad construction. The company foremost in the struggle for these rich patents is the Pearson corporation, headed by Lord Cowdray, but President Wilson has specifically opposed the concession of the oil rights to the British corporation.

Big Concessions Planned.

A Belgian financial group has offered the Huerta government a big sum for a concession to build 5,000 miles of railway in spite of President Wilson's attempts to force the elimination of Huerta through "financial strangulation."

In the meantime, conditions in the capital are going from bad to worse. In addition to the scarcity of money and the famine conditions among the poor, there is a possibility that all the industrial companies may be compelled to close down on account of the lack of fuel.

There are less than 1,000 tons of coal in the capital now, and this will be conserved for the power plant to maintain electric light at night and power for the street railway line.

Three concerns have all the oil in the city, amounting to 24,000 barrels. Coal and oil cannot be shipped in because the lines running from the coal and oil fields are in the hands of the rebels.

RELATIVES OF MADERO FLEE FOR PROTECTION TO U. S. CONSULATE

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 21.—Evaristo Madero, Daniel Madero, Seandro Aguilar, Andres Aguilar, Antonio de la Paz and Santro Mora, all relatives of the late President Madero, are today refugees in the American Consulate.

All the men were released Wednesday from the fortress San Juan Ulua, where they were incarcerated several weeks ago, charged with sedition.

On their release from the prison they went to a local hotel, where the wives of the two Maderos were stopping. It was the intention of the entire party to sail for Havana on board the steamer Morro Castle, their release having been effected on nominal bail bonds and the understanding being that the government would oppose no objection to their departing from the country.

The Morro Castle was watched closely throughout the day by secret police until she sailed. Shortly before sailing time the Maderos presented themselves at the American Consulate and said they had received information that a warrant was out for the arrest of themselves and relatives and that all of them were to be taken to Mexico City.

They requested Consul Canada to give them asylum and the consul acquiesced. The consulate notified Washington and is today awaiting instructions as to further action in the case.

BRYAN CALLS REPORT OF RECOGNITION FOR HUERTA "ABSURD"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The United States will never recognize General Huerta or his government. There has been no change in the situation that would warrant the report circulated in Mexico City by Minister of Foreign Affairs Moheno and transmitted to a London newspaper by its correspondent that a sudden change in the international situation indicated Huerta's recognition.

This was made clear at the State Department today, when Secretary Bryan said:

"The report current in Mexico City that President Wilson is preparing to recognize President Huerta is absurd. President Wilson's attitude in this matter has been clearly shown by his announcements. Nothing occurred recently to alter his decision."

ONE KILLED BY TRAIN WRECK IN ONTARIO

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 21.—The first section of westbound passenger train No. 1, the Imperial Limited on the Canadian Pacific Railway, was wrecked near Angler, Ont., today with the loss of one life.

A broken rail caused the derailment of the locomotive and one express car. The fireman was killed. The wreck occurred on the shore of Lake Superior and the express car plunged into the water.

At the time of the disaster many of the passengers on the train were asleep in the Pullman sleeping cars, but this train, which cuts into the immigrant district of Canada, carries many second class passengers who were riding in day coaches. Several were hurt, but none fatally.

Deny Wilson Is at Odds With Hughes

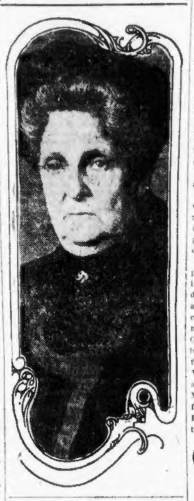
To Enjoy Long Life DON'T WORRY WORK HARD TRUST IN GOD EAT ONIONS Says Hetty Green

WORLD'S RICHEST WOMAN ON 78TH BIRTHDAY GIVES SECRET OF HEALTH

HETTY GREEN, richest woman in the world, who is seventy-eight today and as spry as a schoolgirl in her teens.



Denounces Dresses of the Day as Frivolous and Flimsy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The world's richest woman and probably the world's loneliest woman, Mrs. Hetty Green, sat at her desk today celebrating her seventy-eighth birthday in her own way. She was working and in honor of the occasion she began her day's work an hour earlier than usual.

The burden of millions rests easily upon Mrs. Green, for she is as spry mentally and physically as a woman of thirty, and she declares that she will be sitting at her desk on many more birthdays in the future.

"How are you going to spend your birthday?"

"Right here at hard work, and I hope to spend many more."

"Why I never felt better in my life," declared Mrs. Green, swinging about from a letter littered desk to a reporter.

Then the world's richest woman reached into a pigeonhole, produced a half-eaten onion and proceeded to nibble at this during the interview.

Onions Real Key to Health.

"Onions," she exclaimed by way of explanation, "are the best things in the world for the health. The strong juice of the onion kills germs and helps one to live long. It is a plain, old-fashioned idea of long ago and it is too bad that it has gone out of date. If people ate more raw onions there would be less sickness. I always have a raw onion about me and I never will be without one."

Mrs. Green was then asked for rules on how to live to be seventy-eight. She quickly replied:

Fear God and do justice to everybody so that you will have a clear conscience. Most people worry themselves into their graves. Word hard and live frugally, but one must never overlook the stomach. Eat pure, wholesome food and avoid intoxicants of every form whatsoever.

The tango and modern feminine apparel were basis of the next question.

"I'm a Quaker, having been bred a Quaker, and I know nothing of such dances as the tango and don't want to know anything about them," exclaimed Mrs. Green.

Frivolous Fashions.

"As for the dresses of the day," she continued, "they are too frivolous, too thin and too minus material. Why, look all about you and what do you see? Frail young things, all painted and powdered, riding about in open automobiles with their throats all bare.

"Is it any wonder that they die before they reach womanhood? If they would eat a boiled onion once a day they would soon learn how much their health would be spared. They can wear those low-necked things if they want to, but I assure you I will be here at work long after they have been laid away.

"I could dress like them if I wanted to, and better than most of them if I cared. But I pride myself with more common sense. You saw me the day my daughter was married. You saw the gown I wore that day. Wasn't it a beautiful one? I have pretty nice clothes, but the dressmakers don't make them to suit me these days."

"You do your own shopping?" she was asked.

"Yes, and I get one hundred cents' worth for every dollar I spend," was the rejoinder. "Everybody ought to do so, and you wouldn't hear so many complaints about hard times and the high cost of living."

Mrs. Green was attired in a warm, plain suit of black which looked as if it had seen its share of service. She deplored the fashions of the day which allow girls to paint their faces and declared that dressmakers were doing much to destroy girlish modesty. Mrs. Green moved her offices recently to the big double house at Nos. 5-7 West Ninety-fifth street, where the offices of the Westminister Company, which handles affairs of the Green estate is located. Mrs. Green is assisted in business affairs by her bachelor son, Colonel E. H. R. Green, but insists on managing the big details herself.

Girl's Hair Gray From Sudden Fright

Three Days of Hysteria Follows Discovery of Snake in Fern Basket.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Miss Mabel Murdick, eighteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Murdick, who lives on a farm near Mendham, N. J., is in a serious condition at her home as a result of a fright she received a few days ago.

As she opened a basket in which her brother had gathered ferns she came upon a black snake. The girl screamed and swooned. She has had attacks of hysteria for three days and refuses to eat or drink. Her hair above her ears has turned gray.

Latest Mrs. Goodwin Hysterical in Storm

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Nat Goodwin, formerly Marjorie Moreland, had a thrilling experience while driving to the Goodwin ranch, near Riverside. Her automobile was half buried in a ditch in the San Jacinto mountains, and she was forced to camp for hours alone and in darkness while a terrific storm raged. When rescued by an automobile party she was hysterical.

Some months ago she was a passenger in the motor boat in which Goodwin received injuries that disabled him for many weeks.

Sylvia Pankhurst Foils 50 Policemen

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst again eluded arrest after having delivered an inflammatory "no rent" speech. About fifty policemen were waiting outside the hall, but Miss Pankhurst came through the main entrance surrounded by a strong bodyguard. She reached her motor car in safety.

Nation's Heaviest "Tabby" Is Dead

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Probably the heaviest cat in America died this week at the Episcopal rectory in West Park, Ulster County. His name was Easter C. Searing, he weighed thirty pounds and was born on Easter Sunday at Scottsville, N. Y., March 30, 1902. Easter was a very docile, affectionate cat, seldom in fear of man or beast, although by no means a combative animal.

Vatican Bars Tango As Immoral Dance

ROME, Nov. 21.—The Vatican's reply to bishops who have addressed questions to the Holy See as to whether confessors should give absolution to Roman Catholics who dance the "tango," is that the "tango" must be considered as an immoral dance and consequently is prohibited to all Roman Catholics.

WALSH, BACK FROM TRIP, BUSY WITH MESSAGE

Governor-elect David I. Walsh arrived back in Massachusetts today from the vacation taken after his election. He reached his home in Clinton at 10 o'clock and plunged at once into a mass of correspondence.

His coming inaugural address engaged a great portion of the time of the Governor-elect. Today he comes for a dinner tendered him at the Copley-Plaza and tomorrow he attends the Harvard-Yale game. The Governor-elect today asked that he be excused both between now and inauguration from attending private or public functions as a speaker unless these functions included a public duty.

"My time," said the Governor-elect, "will be taken up from now until inauguration day upon my message. After that and while the Legislature is in session and with so many great questions to be considered, I desire to spend all the time at my command with the affairs of the State. I hope that different associations and bodies, always glad to greet a Governor of the Commonwealth, will be considerate of the conditions imposed upon me at this time. I would be glad to meet and greet people everywhere in the Commonwealth, I will so far as I can, but from now until the Legislature closes its session I must devote myself wholly to the peoples' duty."

Accuse Children as Snatch Thieves

Empty School of 1,800 in 2 Minutes

Pupils of Somerville High Respond Quickly at Fire Drill.

At 11:15 today, the fire gong sounded in the Somerville High School on Central Hill. There are 1,800 pupils on the five floors of the building. At the five strokes of the gong, every pupil was on his or her feet, and two minutes and twenty seconds later, every pupil was outside the building—coatless and hatless, but outside.

The fire drill was signalled by John A. Avery, head master. The pupils had no warning. It took them two minutes and forty seconds to return to their seats. Mayor Charles A. Burns, Chief Rich and Superintendent Charles S. Clark saw the drill.

BELIEVE LOST NEWTON BOY WITH MOTHER

Winslow W. Cole, sixteen, son of Alfred Q. Cole, of No. 35 Otis street, Newtonville, and nephew of Fire Commissioner Cole of Boston, who disappeared mysteriously from his home Tuesday night, may, it is believed, be with his mother, now an actress in New York, who was divorced when Winslow was a small boy.

Alfred Cole, the boys' grandfather, declares that he will ask the Newton police to communicate with the New York authorities and request them to locate her.

"She used to write the boy regularly and send him money," said the elder Mr. Cole, "but we have not heard from her for a year. Only a week ago, when we were talking of her, Winslow said, 'She must be married again.'"

At the time of the divorce, the grandfather said, the mother gave up all legal claim to the custody of her child, who was awarded to his father by the court.

Mr. Cole, father of the boy, has given up his business to work and wait for his boy's return.

FEAR PIPER GIRL KIDNAPED NEAR TRAMPS' HAUNT

WATERVILLE, Me., Nov. 21.—The police fear today that Miss Lois M. Piper, the eighteen-year-old school teacher, daughter of Kingsbury B. Piper, secretary of the Democratic State committee, was kidnaped near the old roadbed of the Maine Central Railroad, a frequent haunt of tramps.

A renewed search was made today for clews. The police are working on the theory that she may have left the city, either willingly or unwillingly, by automobile, and a canvass of the local garages was made.

Several suspicious strangers were known to be in the city on Monday, the day of the girl's disappearance; and while they had more the appearance of yeggs, they looked desperate enough to attempt any job, according to the police, and they may have seen Miss Piper with the roll of small bills amounting to $40, which she had after she sent a registered letter containing $30 to her boarding place in Newburg.

"I am more and more inclined to the belief that my daughter has met with foul play," said her father today.

FOLIN SHOWS WOMEN HOW TO MAKE BREAD

By CONSTANCE WILLIAMS.

Housewives of Boston will be interested in some brand new ideas about flour and breadmaking which Professor Otto Folin explained to me in his laboratory at Harvard Medical School.

"The main factor in the breadmaking is the baking," declared Dr. Folin. "The chemical composition of all grades of flour is practically the same and consequently the food value is the same.

"Just as good bread can be made from the cheaper grades of flour as from the high patent grades. The refining process does not improve the flour except in the texture and whiteness, in fact I think it logical to suppose that some of the food value is lost in the refining process.

"Flour has twice the food value as an equal weight of beef and, taking the price into consideration, is about twenty times as economical. I think if I were required to select one single article of diet, I should choose whole wheat bread, well baked."

Professor Folin explained that the reason why baker's bread was spongy and could be rolled into soft, doughy balls was because the baker's policy was to get the greatest weight in a loaf of bread with the least amount of flour.

WHEN BACK ACHES, WATCH KIDNEYS!

If Neglected, Serious Diseases May Follow.

When the kidneys are clogged up and inactive, nature always warns you.

Backache is one of the first symptoms. You may also be troubled with disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders; have attacks of lumbago or rheumatism; become nervous, tired or feel all worn out; puffy swellings show under the eyes, or in the feet and ankles; or the urine becomes light and pale, dark-colored or cloudy. If such symptoms are neglected, dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease, which so often prove fatal, may result.

It is not only dangerous, but needless, for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles, when a little Croxone will quickly and surely end all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for the prompt relief and cure of such troubles, because it cleans out the clogged-up kidneys and makes them work properly. It soaks right in through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter, and makes the kidneys filter and sift the poisons from the blood and drive it out of the system.

This new, scientific preparation is entirely different from other remedies. It is so quick-acting and effective that it is practically impossible to take it without results.

An original package costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

Three doses a day, for a few days, is often all that is ever needed to end the worst backache; relieve rheumatic pains or overcome sleep-disturbing urinary disorders.

DON'T TRUST CALOMEL

Thousands Experience Bad After Effects From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him, years ago, towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he has been for several years in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet.

The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. And their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

There is no necessity, when you take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, for following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts, or castor oil, as you do after taking calomel. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

BAD COLD? YOUR HEAD STUFFED?

"Pape's Cold Compound" gives quick relief—Contains no quinine.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

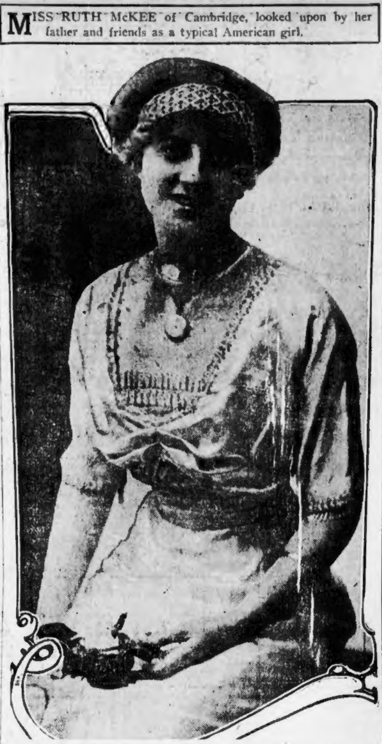
TYPICAL GIRL INCARNATION OF AMERICA



MISS RUTH McKEE of Cambridge, looked upon by her father and friends as a typical American girl.

THE TYPICAL AMERICAN GIRL? What is she? Where is she? Who is she?

There appears to be some uncertainty among the readers of the AMERICAN as to the exact meaning of the word typical.

Some who have written to the editor have declared that the typical American girl must have Indian blood in her veins, or must be descended directly from the Pilgrims who came over in the Mayflower.

Others are sure that a girl who is very fond of outdoor life and sports is typical of all America.

While the artist judges will have their own ideas of what the typical girl is like, they will find, should they consult the Century Dictionary, that the word "typical" means "having the nature and characteristics of a type—constituting a type or pattern—symbolical—characteristic."

It is, therefore, quite possible that what was a type two hundred years ago may no longer be so.

America is now filled with girls whose ancestors belong to all quarters of the globe and it may well be that the typical girl is a composite of many nationalities, or she may simply be one who has mixed with many people and has become the incarnation and spirit of all races in America.

If the majority of American girls are fond of out-door life, then the typical girl will be found among them. If by far the larger part of American girls have blue eyes and light brown hair, then she who is an example of the type will have similar features.

Again, if American girls are trimly dressed, carrying themselves with an air of freedom and independence, the typical girl will do the same.

Miss Ruth McKee, whose picture is given today, is a typical girl from Cambridge, according to her proud father, who brought the photograph personally to the office.

The prize, which will be presented to the "Typical American Girl" when she is selected by the judges in this great contest, will be a life-size oil portrait of herself, painted by a noted New England artist, from personal sittings.

"No, Thanks!" Says Luce to Nomination

Does Not Care to Be a City Father in Somerville.

Declaring the whole matter a joke, ex-Lieutenant Governor Robert Luce has declined the Aldermanic nomination for Alderman-at-Large in Ward 3, Somerville. He learned of his nomination from City Clerk Cook, who checked the various candidates nominated at the primaries last Tuesday.

Mr. Luce said that it not infrequently happens when there is no regular candidate seeking the position, one or more voters write in a man's name on the ballot "just for fun."

30 INJURED IN FIRE PANIC AT MACARONI SHOP

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Thirty men and women were hurt today, two fatally, in a fire which started shortly after 8 a. m. in the drying room of the Atlantic Macaroni Factory in Long Island City.

There were 300 persons in the building when the fire started. The flames spread rapidly and a panic immediately followed. In terror, the men and women rushed towards the exits and many were thrown to the floor and trampled upon.

MILWAUKEE POLICE FIND NO TRACE OF SWAIN

While the Milwaukee police are still keeping a close watch for the expected appearance of John H. Swain of Falmouth, the school superintendent who disappeared from that town Saturday, in company, it is believed, with Mrs. Florence Souther, no trace of the couple has yet been found according to dispatches today.

The first clew which led to the belief that the couple were on their way West was received in a letter written by Swain to his wife on stationery of the Boston & Albany Railroad.

A watch is also being kept over the home of Miss Hazel Burt of Milwaukee, who is a sister of Mrs. Souther, and to which place it is thought that Swain and Mrs. Souther might make their way.

For Bright Eyes And Clear Nose

Remarkable Catarrh Cure That Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gatherings

S. S. S. is a Wonder for the Eyes, Nose and Throat.

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antidotal remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infects the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores.

For special advice on any blood disease write to the Swift Specific Co., 223 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. from your druggist.

Always insist that you want S. S. S. and nothing else. Beware of all attempts to sell you a substitute.

May Help You if Lungs Are Affected

Proper diet, fresh air and temperate habits are beneficial to persons suffering from Lung Trouble; but in a great many instances reports show that the addition of a medicine for this affection has materially helped in bringing about recovery. For more than fifteen years Eckman's Alterative, a medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles, has accomplished good results. Read what it did in this case:—

Madison Lake, Minn.

"Gentlemen: In December, 1908, March, 1909, and September, 1909, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs which confined me several weeks, each time to my bed. My doctor advised me to go West. In November I started for Denver, Col. After my arrival I met Michael Brody, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Eckman's Alterative. I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. In March, 1910, I returned home. I am entirely well, have a good appetite and sleep well. When I left Denver my weight was 130 pounds. I now weigh 165, my normal weight. I thank God and your Alterative for my health."

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

SHALL I LET MY CHILDREN STARVE, OR KILL THEM?

---Mother's Desperate Appeal to American

The following heart-rending letter has come to the AMERICAN. It is signed "Another Mary"—bears a Braintree postmark, and is written in a cultivated hand and by an educated woman. It is offered here without comment:

To the men of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Gentlemen:

I ask bluntly: Shall I kill my children mercifully, or shall I see them starve slowly?

Now at first sight, you think: "Another insane friend." But surely all great, wise men of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts ought to be able to solve my question. If you understand they were really serious, you would.

Our best men died to set the black race free—yet you forget us—mothers!

An Old-Fashioned Mother.

As I write this I laugh and imagine it sounds like an appeal for "Votes for Women." IT IS NOT—intentionally, at any rate. I am one of those "old-fashioned mothers" you people value so highly (on paper!) and literally torture, in fact.

I never attended a suffrage meeting or even saw a real suffragette that I know of except one. She was a small, delicate woman, standing in an auto addressing a crowd of men. I was rather ashamed of her at the time, I remember. But now, a few years later, I wonder if she and they really see conditions like mine, and if instead of wanting to be Presidents and Senators and various kinds of politicians, they really mean, if they do get to voting, to arrange laws to help us—we women who marry early because God gave us a great amount of life and love and power for duty. A strong sense of duty and love are the only possessions of women of our kind, aside from the capacity to endure suffering. We are too unselfish to take proper care of ourselves.

Even the bees make a queen of the producer of progeny. Yet today in Massachusetts for one child we are praised—for two, commended—for three, criticized, and for four, abused! After that number, we are beyond the pale—partly because of the comment and criticism of other women.

We toil with our shapeless fingers from early rising to bedtime, getting the neglected washing and sewing done. We hide in our back rooms. We rise early and work late and all day Sundays. We sew and scrimp, we darn and patch, we bake and boil; we buy and raise hogs and chickens and garden truck and preserve it. We take as many boarders as we can. We wash everlastingly, we sweep eternally.

And our corns ache, and our broken arches ache and our teeth ache and our bodies and heads ache.

We can nurse as if we were trained in a hospital. We can wash a tiny baby and make him "comfy" and love him, even if he has cost us almost our lives, and frightful agony. We can guide the grandfather's steps, and help the complaining old grandmother who is unhappy because her days of usefulness are over and she cannot be happy because she has worn her eyes out a little in advance of her heart, and cannot see to longer serve. We can close their tired eyes. We can see our loved ones go through suffering untold, and by silent sympathy and by our labor and love and will, force them again to health—or nurse them until they slip away from us and leave us—to cheer the others with smiling faces by day, and spend the nights in sleepless agony.

Pressed Closer to Wall.

And now, with all our other burdens, oh, gentlemen of Massachusetts and all the world, we are pressed closer to the wall.

For many years now, prices have been rising. We first began to pinch ourselves—then our table fare. One luxury after another passed. Now for years we have studied the barest necessities till at last the time has come when we can do no more.

We can do no more. What shall we do?

We—the "Old Fashioned Mothers"—cannot kill our babies. You say we shall not, and punish us and punish men of science who would help us, as often from real human sympathy as for the dollar. We have to live with our husbands—you say we must and he says we shall. Our only relief is to have "nervous prostration"—but that costs money and suffering to the family, and so we can only indulge enough to relieve ourselves somewhat, and get patched up again for the next day's washing.

In my own family, we have had a number of severe sicknesses and operations among the family. The family is, I admit with pride, large. I can face my mother and you—gentlemen of the Commonwealth, and say "SO FAR, I have kept all your laws, and I DEMAND, in a real extremity to which I am giving my most earnest and prayerful consideration—that you tell me, WHAT SHALL I DO?"

What shall we do? My husband and I both work with all our strength to fulfill the duties you gentlemen hold us to. But severe sickness and doctors who are importunate and trades people who also are importunate—oh, I feel wild every day of late when I see the postman—make me wonder just what to do. For when I pay for our food, I cannot pay for clothing, and when I pay for our clothing, I cannot pay for food.

Sickness, and inadequate means—these are the direct causes, for we have no vices. Our children are clean, well fed, intelligent—with the true Bostonian eye-glass bill for three of them. We cannot beg or steal. You forbid that also. We cannot borrow any more until we pay what we have borrowed.

I really feel like a highstrung horse, held by the driver and whipped at the same time, for no fault of its own. And if you ever saw a proceeding of this sort, you know that the mare usually kicks over the traces and smashes things generally at such treatment.

Does Anybody Care?

So now, Gentlemen of Massachusetts, I demand relief from somewhere. From Providence through you, or from you through Providence, or I fear you will be greatly shocked some morning—although you are getting used to the shocks. I fear you really don't take the signs of the times seriously. And after all—Who cares? Do you? No one does. We who are "Old Fashioned Mothers" know. We used to think God did. Some of us do still. But we know if we have intelligence that no divine—much less human—intelligence would let us suffer as we are suffering and see it all, with an all-seeing eye.

(Signed) ANOTHER MARY.

SEEKS TO ANNUL MARRIAGE WITH CABARET GIRL

Luke W. Condry of Dorchester has instituted proceedings for the annulment of his marriage to Edna Leader, one of the best-known woman baseball fans in Boston, and a former cabaret singer of this city.

Condry declares that her first husband had not obtained a divorce from her at the time of their marriage.

He also alleges that her former husband sought to have his marriage annulled on the ground that he was intoxicated at the time he married her and didn't know what he was doing.

Miss Leader is now singing in New York. She was formerly a chorus girl and vaudeville artiste, and some years ago, while she was a member of "A Knight for a Day" company, worked out a plan to go around the world on an advertising venture. The trip never materialized, however.

Her husband claims that she was first married to John Daniel Smysner, Jr., at South Orange, N. J., in August, 1906. Condry claims that Smyuner did not get a divorce from her until February of this year. His own marriage took place on May 15, 1909, in this city.

WHITE HOUSE WEDDING TO BE A ROSE BRIDAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—By reason of the color scheme represented in the gowns of the bridal party, Miss Jessie Wilson's wedding will go down in history as the rose wedding of the White House.

The gowns to be worn by the bride's attendants will be graduated shades of rose red, the effect of the picture presented by the party being that of a full blown rose.

The gown to be worn by Miss Margaret Wilson is of gauzy silk of a deep red shade. This is draped over a flesh colored satin foundation, giving the desired rose effect. Miss Brown and Miss Mary White, the bridesmaids, will wear gowns of the same materials but with the coloring softened to a paler rose shade. The draped tunics or overdresses of Miss Scott and Miss Eleanor Wilson, the bride's youngest sister, will blend into the palest pink shades.

Maids to Carry Rose Bouquets.

The bridal attendants will wear large hats of silver net lined with pink and rose red shades, corresponding to the gowns. All will carry large bouquets of roses.

Mrs. Wilson's gown will be of chiffon velvet of a rare shade of pale old gold.

With the arrival last night of Francis B. Sayre, the groom at the wedding, final preparations for the event are now well under way.

Mr. Sayre was met at the Union station by his fiancee and driven to the Executive Mansion, where he will remain until Sunday, when he will go to Justice Charles E. Hughes' residence to remain until the wedding day.

Promptly at 4 o'clock on Tuesday Mr. Sayre will arrive at the front door of the White House and be ushered by a uniformed aide to the Green Room. There, joined by his best man, he will await the coming of the wedding hour.

$2,500 Gift From Steel Workers.

Miss Wilson divided her attention today between the final touches to her trousseau and glances at the new wonders in gifts of silver and other valuables as they arrived. She has shown keen delight in the cook book which friends have compiled from the prized receipts of several hundred women in public life.

Included in the book are the recipes which her maternal grandmother treasured in true Southern fashion. Contrasts in the sources of gifts grew more pronounced. The jealously guarded present from the justices of the Supreme Court will be outdone by the $2,500 remembrance from the steel workers at Wheeling, W. Va., who once were employed by the father of Mr. Sayre.

When Mr. Sayre is married he will wear a black frock coat, trousers of a pearl gray with pinstripe, gray tie, black patent leather buttoned shoes with cloth tops, and pearl gray gloves. His waistcoat will be black. In his buttonhole will be a white gardenia sent him by Miss Wilson. His best man, Dr. Grenfell, has adopted a similar costume for the day.

Bridal Poem for Miss Wilson.

Miss Wilson has received the following poem, written by the Rev. W. J. Shaw of Mt. Washington, Mass., entitled "A Wedding Bell":

Dear daughter of our nation's chief,
We send you now a message brief,
And warm with light of love.
But how can we in language tell
The music of a marriage bell
Clear chiming from above.
How firmly fix its fine alloy,
How ring its rhythmic notes of joy
That all the waiting lands
May bear its happy tones along,
Sweet swelling like a seraph's song,
And struck by stainless hands.
True steel of manliness we see,
White of spotless purity,
Love's never changing gold.
And faith and hope this mixture pure
Will make a metal to endure,
When steadfast suns grow cold.
And now to fix the fine alloy,
Approving millions wish you joy.

No Harbor Charge for Amundsen Ship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—By special dispensation of Secretary Garrison, the famous old Polar ship Fram will be relieved of the payment of all harbor and other charges during her stay at Colon through the Panama Canal on the way northward to Bering Sea to engage in another Arctic expedition. Captain Amundsen, who was afraid to trust the old ship on a voyage around treacherous Cape Horn, secured a promise from Colonel Goethals to pass her through the canal at the earliest possible moment.

Delay Award for Fleet Shooting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Because the presence of the battleships in Mexican waters has interfered with the completion of the Fall target practice, the award of the general trophy will depend upon the outcome of the Spring competitions, it was announced at the Navy Department today. From the incomplete scores so far made, it appears that the new dreadnought Wyoming leads the list with a combined score of 41,109 per cent., with the sister ship Arkansas a close second at 40,937.

WATCH FOR IT!

I. W. W. JOINS IN FALL RIVER WAGE DEMAND

FALL RIVER, Nov. 21.—The entrance of the Industrial Workers of the World into the Fall River textile wage controversy and their demand to the Cotton Manufacturers' Association for an increase of 20 per cent. complicate the local situation, as a strike vote will probably be taken by the American Federation of Labor operatives if their demands are not granted.

There are about 500 members in the local I. W. W. branch, and fully two weeks ago they presented a demand to the Manufacturers' Association for an increase. Thus far they have not received any answer, which they requested be filed by November 24.

The labor secretaries here refuse to discuss the wage situation, preferring to wait until they hear from the manufacturers. It is admitted by several of them, however, that the operatives are determined to force the issue.

A special meeting of the stationary firemen in the mills will be held tonight, when action will be taken on the wage question.

News Girls on "L" Given Higher Pay

Increase in Wages Goes Into Effect Tomorrow.

A substantial increase in wages is assured the girls employed on the newsstands of the Elevated railway. One hundred and ten girls will be benefited by this increase, which is secured under a signed agreement between the union and the Hotel and Railroad News Company. This increase goes into effect tomorrow.

The agreement provides that girls working the first six months shall receive $7 a week. After six months they will receive $7.50; after two years $8, and after three years $9 a week, six days to constitute a week's work.

It is further provided that there shall be no discrimination against the girls who are active members of the union. A tentative provision for an adjustment board, empowered to take up grievances, is provided for.

CHANGED GIRL BY 48 HOURS OF JAIL LIFE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Miss Elizabeth C. Watson, a child labor and female delinquency investigator, and Miss Madeleine Doty, a member of the Prison Commission, have returned after serving five days in the Auburn Prison for Women.

Miss Watson says she found no sensational abuse. She says the convicts in prison are just "folks" and not of the "criminal types."

for her appearance in the midst of her society friends and the other showing her in the prison garb labeled "D 932."

"If you look at my Bedtillon 'mug,' taken on my third day in, you can see what forty-eight hours did to me. Warden Rattigan looked at the pictures and remarked: 'That's the type of a hard woman.' (That was after I'd been 'out' a week.)

"He was dumfounded when I said 'That's I.' He looked at the photograph and then at me and found it difficult to believe the change.

"The change inside me was the same. I was shocked when I realized that my heart was full of hate. It was the literal truth. Precisely like the well-bred girl in 'Fanny's First Play,' who suddenly found herself 'bashing' a booby, saying fearful swear words, too, at the policeman. I also was astounded at the rage prison wals had put into me.

"And suppose I had been sent up unjustly, imprisoned for what I hadn't done, as is true of some of the 111, or sentenced to fifteen years for what I couldn't help, as most of the 111 believe—well, Auburn would have taken my mind away in short order."

Policy-Holding Judges Leave Bench

Chief Justice Rugg and Justice Braley of the Supreme Judicial Court, left the bench today when the case of William E. Curtis, executor, against the New York Life Insurance Company came up for argument. Both hold policies in the company. As four justices were needed to sit on the full court bench, Justice Sheldon, who was holding the equity session of the Supreme Court, suspended his session and joined with the three left to hear the arguments in the case in question.

SCOTT'S EMULSION makes new blood free from the poisonous products which irritate the joints and muscles; its medicinal force relieves the enlarged, stiffened joints; and more, SCOTT'S EMULSION stimulates the forces to expel the poisonous acids by its concentrated nourishing properties.

Physicians everywhere prescribe Scott's Emulsion for rheumatism.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

BIBLE KEPT ME SANE, SAYS MENDEL BEILIS

By W. ORTON TEWSON.

KIEV, Nov. 21.—Mendel Beilis, the now world-famous "ritual murderer" prisoner, gave a second interview to the AMERICAN correspondent today, at which he concluded the narrative of his experiences in prison in Kiev while awaiting trial.

Continuing today, Beilis said:

"After some days in my cell I was called before the governor of the prison, where I saw Lawyer Margolin, to whom, I learned, my wife had appealed for help. I was fearfully excited, but Margolin quieted me by saying that he had gone through the indictment, and had come to the conclusion that there was no evidence against me. He promised to see me through my trouble.

Sees Family Again.

"Later he obtained permission for me to see my wife and children whom I had not seen for more than eighteen months. My heart beat with joy when, several days later, I was taken to a room where the prisoners were allowed to see friends.

"It was a big room with a number of wire cages in which the prisoners were placed so that they might not be able to grasp their friends' hands. In a few minutes my wife and children were led in. I thought my heart would burst, but my joy was turned into anguish as I noticed my wife's appearance.

"She was deathly pale and looked years older than when I last saw her. She was thin and worried. Neither of us spoke a word.

"Brother's Eyes Red."

"I almost fainted, tears trickled down my face, as the governor of the prison, who was present, broke the spell, saying: "Go on Beilis, don't lose precious time. You have only a few minutes."

"I shall never forget those few minutes. I noticed my brother, who was with the party. He was wearing blue spectacles. I inquired the reason, so he took them off. I saw a pair of crimson eyes that were made so through tears shed for me. The incident of that meeting stands clearly in my mind today.

"One Friday, I remember the day well, Lawyer Margolin informed me that the trial was postponed. The shock was terrible. In despair I fell to the floor of the cell, imploring him that if I was to be kept much longer in prison it was better I should die.

"Bible Kept Me Sane."

"If it had not been for the Bible which was allowed to me and which spoke to me like a very voice in the wilderness I believe I should have gone insane. I was losing strength daily and what made me full of fear was that I noticed the great anxiety on the part of the prison officials to get rid of me. They were plainly anxious that I should die in my cell, but I was determined to do my utmost to live, because I knew of the black spot on Jewry which my death would make harder to remove.

"I prayed to God to let me live until the trial. I tried to eat, although the food was awful. About this time another prisoner was put into my cell. He was a Pole who had just been sentenced to eighteen years in Siberia. I saw at once that he was a man of the better class, with education. From the first moment he talked about nothing except to protest his innocence.

Called Before Governor.

"I tried to comfort him and told him the tragedy of my own life. He listened intently, and when I had finished he replied: 'Although I am a Pole and a Christian I have lived among Jews for years. I know their religion, habits and also their secrets, and I know there is no such thing as 'ritual murder' among them.'

"I thanked him with tears in my eyes and a great friendship grew between us.

"One day he was called before the Governor. When he returned I noticed that he was greatly excited. I asked the reason and he replied: 'I don't want to upset you, but I must tell the truth. I was called to the Governor's office where many high officials were gathered. The first question they asked was: 'Are you confined in Beilis' cell?'

'" Yes, Your Excellency," I replied.'

Taken to Siberia.

"'You are a Christian, are you not?'

"'Yes.'

"'Then you must, as a Christian, assist us to solve the murder of the boy Yushinsky, by some one who drinks our Christian blood.'

"'I am very anxious to help Your Excellency, but I don't see how I can, I answered.'

"'Perhaps Beilis has told you he committed the murder. You are with him day and night. Perhaps his conscience hurts him. Perhaps he talks in his sleep. Listen to him carefully.'"

"'I have listened very carefully,' I answered, and the only thing I have noticed are the bitter tears of the Jew. I am convinced, Your Excellency, that my partner in the cell is an innocent man.'

"One day later my friend was taken away to Siberia. I shall never forget him. Our farewell will live with me forever."

MRS. LAWRENCE FRENCH, Quincy girl who long kept marriage, which became known today, a close secret.

Dr. Gordon Praises the Immigrant Here

"Ninety-nine out of every hundred immigrants are desirable and useful to the nation through their conscientiousness and industry as workers," said the Rev. Dr. George A. Gordon, in his talk on "Immigration" at the annual banquet of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, at the Somerset.

THREE SECRET WEDDINGS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Three secret weddings became known today for the first time. In Everett announcement was made that Miss Marjorie Dana Dunton of that city was married on September 2, 1911, to Henry Osgood Lowe, now a senior at Dartmouth College.

People in the Atlantic section of Quincy were surprised to learn that Doris Cummings, twenty, daughter of William F. Cummings, a well-to-do umbrella manufacturer of Atlantic, and Lawrence French, twenty-one, of Billings street, Atlantic, had been married since last August.

Only for a few hours were the bridal pair able to keep secret the marriage Wednesday evening of Miss Grace G. Locke, seventeen, and Harold A. Hood, twenty, both of Brockton, by the Rev. Edgar B. French.

The parents of the young people were aware of their friendship and knew of their intention to marry, but they had kept their plans secret from their friends. Miss Locke is a telephone operator at the Brockton main exchange, and Hood is ticket agent at the Brockton railroad station.

Bob Burman's latest pet, one that he is grooming for the next five hundred mile race at Indianapolis, is a creation he fondly terms the "Centipede," not because it has many legs, but many valves. It is a racing car constructed of phosphor bronze and vanadium steel, which has sixteen openings into its four firing chambers, two intake and two exhaust apiece. One hundred and ten miles an hour is said to be its speed capacity. This is held to be going some even for Burman, whose business it is to furnish high frequency thrills for the multitude. After he has his bus in working order Burman plans to give it tryout on the speedway, it is said, after which he will settle down to the task of winning the five hundred-mile race, his life's ambition, in earnest.

The practice of putting convicts on their honor, especially prisoners who are at work constructing or repairing highways, has been started in several States and is meeting with such success, according to reports received by the National Committee on Prison Labor. North Dakota, Oregon, New Jersey, Michigan, Ohio and Colorado are among the States where the honor system has been developed to its highest degree.

Under the laws of North Dakota the Board of Control may employ convicts on the public highways, their expenses to be paid by the respective counties in which they work. The law stipulates that the prisoners perform their duties under the supervision of skilled laborers, who act as guards; but, so far as possible, the law declares, the convicts are to be placed on their honor.

SEEKS LEGAL RELIEF FOR STRAPHANGERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The much abused straphanger of this city may ride in the street cars for half fare if a bill introduced by Senator Norris becomes a law. The prospect, even if remote, has caused much enheartenment here.

The bill provides when a street car passenger is unable to obtain a seat the conductor must give a rebate ticket representing half of the fare paid.

Two of these rebate tickets shall be accepted for one full fare when the straphanger makes his third trip.

Says Dublin Riots Aren't for Home Rule

Leader Larkin Declares Movement is for World Reform.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—James Larkin, the Dublin strike leader who was recently pardoned by King George, in an interview with the AMERICAN correspondent here today, said it seems to be the impression in America that the Dublin strike is officially connected with John Redmond's fight for home rule.

"Nothing is further from the truth and all Irish-Americans should change the erroneous impression gained from the newspapers," he said. "They should realize that this movement heralds the rapid advance of sweeping reforms throughout the whole world and that its objects are too vast for it to tie itself down to anything so local as the home rule fight."

HINT OF NEW LETTER IN WAR OVER PINDELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. — Senator Burton of Ohio served notice on Chairman Bacon of the Foreign Relations Committee, that he wished to be heard when the nomination of Henry M. Pindell, to be ambassador to Russia, just sent to the Senate, comes up.

Representative Claudius A. Stone from the Peoria district is after the editor of the Peoria Journal. It is said there is a letter in existence in which Pindell wanted to dictate the postmastership of the district and have their friends willing to further the interest of the newspaper he runs.

"Stand-Pats Pray for Panic"---Stone

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—"The average stand-pat Republican, if he prays at all, is muttering supplications to the skies day and night that a panic may fall upon the country. But no panic is in sight. There will be no panic," said Senator Stone of Missouri in the Senate.

Says America Aids Militant Movement

"While American suffragists have not as yet followed Mrs. Pankhurst's methods, still in contributing money to her fund they are giving her more than moral support to her methods of devastation," said Miss Lucy J. Price, who addressed the meeting of the Anti-Suffrage Association at Pilgrim Hall.

24 ARCHITECTS IN PANAMA FAIR COMPETITION

Twenty-four designs have been submitted in the competition conducted by the Massachusetts Panama-Pacific managers for the selection of an architect for the State Building at the International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915.

The program for the competition, which calls for a building not to exceed $80,000 in cost with an interior space of 425,000 cubic feet, was laid down by Professor James Knox Taylor of the architectural department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Competition was confined to Massachusetts architects, thirty-five of whom requested the program.

The designs submitted will be opened by a jury of three architects selected by Professor Taylor. There will be five prizes, the grand prize going to the architect of the design, the commission taking charge of the final plans for the building. Four other awards of merit will be distributed by the jury.

London Woman Tells of Human Sacrifice

Mrs. George De Barrie, in Boston, Describes Slaying of Fiji Girl.

Mrs. George de Barrie of London, who is stopping with Boston friends at the Copley-Plaza, after a tour of the Fiji Islands, has described many of her weird experiences. Of one of her adventures she said:

"There is a legend in the islands that the great spirit is in the form of a huge snake, living in the caverns of the sea. Now, while Christianity is quite generally practiced, there are groups of natives who still worship this mysterious being.

"We had barely landed when we beheld a human sacrifice being made to the serpent, 'Ndegei.' A young native girl, amid the beating of tomtoms, had her neck slit from ear to ear, the blood being caught in an earthen vessel. It was a horrible scene. The members of my party had slipped up quietly, unobserved, and we left the same way."

MANY WOMEN SEEK TO ADOPT POTTER BABY

Over a dozen women, it was announced today, have asked to adopt Irene Potter of No. 746 Dudley street, Roxbury, the eleven-months-old baby girl whose mother, because of physical incapability, is willing to give the child to one who will supply it with a suitable home.

The women who applied for the right of mothering the baby girl were the wives of lawyers, artisans, bankers and shopkeepers. They came from Atlantic, Saugus, Brookline, South Boston and other points in and about the city. Mrs. Potter said:

"All there is in life for me is the future of my baby girl, and I don't want to be governed by the amount of money that its future parents possess. I must feel assured when I sign my child away—and it will mean more to me than the signing away of my own life—that my baby girl shall have a suitable chance in life.

"Poor little Irene stood it extremely well. They began calling shortly after breakfast time and from then until after 5 o'clock there was someone hugging or holding or petting the baby. I have a mother's intuition that little Irene herself will guide me in the selection of her future mother."

L. Selig, field secretary of the Federated Jewish Charities. David A. Lourie, president of the Home for Jewish Children, will preside.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid, which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Somebody suggested the candles on the tree will be melted if this weather keeps up.

Love Romance of Harry and Evelyn

CHAPTER LXXVII

Whose soul is unarmored. [illegible] of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw [illegible] in court [illegible]

[illegible] hearing.

The girl [illegible] dressed for the part she [illegible] that would speak of extreme [illegible] of flouting. She wore a [illegible] gown tightly fitting [illegible] of dark [illegible]. Her waist, shirtwaist, of slightly [illegible]. Her [illegible] dark hat was [illegible] wide [illegible] her chin.

Her face was [illegible] the veil, [illegible] beautiful hair [illegible] to accentuate the [illegible] wanness of the girl's face.

Evelyn sat next to Guy McKenzie, [illegible]. Those who were not already familiar with the girl [illegible] wistful expression to her [illegible]. They saw that Evelyn had [illegible] her head to [illegible] a very appealing [illegible] with the District Attorney [illegible] engagement [illegible] for her.

Evelyn's Pallor "Alarming"

The paleness of Evelyn's face made any think that the girl was fear stricken [illegible] she would not last through an ordeal of any length or great severity. Allusions were made in the next day's reports to her alarming pallor. The observers little knew the [illegible] of the girl.

The dominant note in the appearance of Harry's mother, Mrs. William Thaw, was [illegible]. One description of her ran as follows:

> Clothed entirely in black—in a simple black cloth gown, hat and thin black veil—was the tall, handsome mother of the defendant. The only relief to her sombre costume was in the silver gray hair that was almost carelessly brushed in free strands above her broad forehead. She was [illegible] calm.

Another description dwelt on this perfect poise of the mother saying:

> Of the five women who came to [illegible] Harry K. Thaw in his hour of [illegible] his mother was by far the most [illegible]. [illegible] Mrs. Thaw [illegible]. The Countess of Yarmouth and Mrs. [illegible] Carnegie came to [illegible] veiled, and Evelyn and Mrs. McKenzie employed these face coverings as beautifiers. Mrs. Thaw wore only the transparent veil of everyday custom. The others, especially the Countess, might resent the gaze of the onlookers, but she sat there under the eyes of 300 people as though she was alone in her drawing room.

The Countess of Yarmouth was in brown. Her suit was cut with a coat of [illegible]. Her brown hat was trimmed with fur to match. Her veil of the same was drawn down over her face. But after being in the room a while the countess raised her veil, as though used to the general staring.

Confidence of Thaw Women.

The Thaw women, some of the reporters remarked, bespoke confidence in their appearance. There was an indefinable air, especially in the mother, the countess and Mrs. Carnegie, which seemed to say:

> This is most unfortunate, but, of course, Harry will be acquitted and the matter will eventually be forgotten. Meanwhile we will possess ourselves with what patience we may until the law is satisfied.

But suddenly the legal machinery was moving.

Then Jerome was on his feet. Speaking with practised ease, the District Attorney, in these words, informed the judge that he wished to try Harry for murder:

> May it please Your Honor, the Grand Jury of the County of New York has returned an indictment charging Harry K. Thaw with having committed the crime of murder in the first degree. I now move that case for trial and ask that the defendant be arraigned at the bar for trial.

Clerk Penny shouted: "Harry K. Thaw to the bar!"

There was a reaching forward of the general head by the audience toward the door leading to the prison pen, where Harry would enter. Judge Fitzgerald was ready for it. He said sternly:

"There must be absolute quiet."

The rear door opened and Deputy Delehanty came in with Harry K. Thaw. Immediately the reporters and others who had seen Harry at his first arraignment [illegible] that seven months of prison [illegible] had told on the celebrated defendant.

Thaw Scrupulously Clad.

Harry was scrupulously clad in a blue sack suit, with blue four-in-hand tie and high turned down collar. He wore no scarf pin. He was dressed as conservatively as possible.

Harry was pale. It was the regular prison pallor, that waxy appearance which inevitably settles upon a cell occupant in a few months and which seems to emphasize all the unfavorable points in his or her physiognomy.

It was a trying moment for the prisoner—this entry into a room jammed with people, every one of whom was gazing on him.

The effect is almost that of a blow, but Harry did not shrink. He strode along with the deputy to his place at the defendant's table.

Harry held his head well up. He carried his six feet of height steadily. Everyone noticed that his complexion was poor, sallow and lacking color.

Harry passed the Thaw family group without a word. As he went by there came a pathetic incident that was noticed by those nearest to Harry's mother. The elder Mrs. Thaw instinctively started to rise. Her right hand made a sort of protecting gesture—the natural motherly tendency to shield her boy from threatening danger, no matter whether the harm be legal or not.

Cast Complete for Trial.

But Harry did not stop—naturally. He was in the hands of the law. He bowed to his relatives generally, then took the chair assigned to him at the defendant's table. He was between Henry McPike and A. Russell Peabody of his numerous counsel.

The appearance of the defendant completed the cast of the trial for the present. The jury would have to be chosen—bound to be a long and tiresome task. The rejected talesmen would be dismissed and when the jury was secured witnesses would be added to the scene.

Questions to the very first talesmen brought in the "unwritten law."

(To Be Continued)

THAW MAY ASK EXAMINATION BY LUNACY BOARD

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 21.—Harry K. Thaw may ask Judge Aldrich of the United States District Court, before whom his petition for a habeas corpus writ is now pending, to appoint a lunacy commission to determine his sanity.

The Thaw counsel were busily engaged today, it was learned, in consulting the law to determine if this could be done. They were also seeking to find just what material advantage Thaw would derive from the interpolating of this element into the case.

"I would welcome any inquiry into my sanity," Thaw has steadfastly declared.

The probability of the move to have a lunacy commission appointed is strengthened by the recent consultation Thaw had with two of the most prominent alienists in America, who were closeted with him all day in his room at the Eagle Hotel.

If Thaw were declared sane by a lunacy commission appointed in the United States Courts, it would be a complete victory for him, as it would render his return to Matteawan impossible.

Mystery In Suicide Of Norwell Youth

No Reasons Found for Drowning of Lawrence G. Turner.

The mystery of the disappearance of Lawrence G. Turner, son of Selectman Will D. Turner of Norwell, on the night of October 18, is still unexplained, although his body has been found in the North River.

There had been numerous rumors that he had merely left this neighborhood and had been seen in other parts of the country.

The body was removed to an undertaking establishment and the funeral will be held on Saturday.

The disappearance of Turner, who was twenty-two, has been a five weeks' mystery. On the night of October 18 he called on a neighbor, looked in on a dance at Fogg's Hall, Norwell Centre, and then went home. It is believed that he committed suicide, although no reasons for the act can be found.

NATICK STILL IN DOUBT OVER VOTE RECOUNT

The selectmen of Natick have forwarded a certificate to Secretary of State Donahue that is without precedent in the records.

The selectmen certify on the recount of votes cast for representative for the Sixth Middlesex District that there were two disputed ballots; one of these ballots was unanimously counted by the board of registrars in favor of Thomas H. Brennan; the other ballot is in dispute, the board of registrars dividing, two and two. If this ballot had been counted by the registrars the vote would have been a tie.

Believes Aviation Will Lessen War and Aid Sea Control.

ST. N. SALLINGER Sells Standard Brands of OVERCOATS On Credit—$1.00 A WEEK

N. Sallinger, The Only Credit Man Permitted to Sell Above Overcoats on Credit

N. SALLINGER.

Mr. Sallinger, originator of the famous order check, is the exclusive credit agent in Boston for the biggest and best clothing manufacturers in America; men's fine clothing that is advertised in the big magazines and big newspapers of this country. The manufacturers of these standard brands of high grade men's clothing spend hundreds of thousands of dollars every year designing, making and advertising their clothing, proving its value and desirability and establishing a material and artistic standard.

Mr. Sallinger recognized the fact that he could not build up his credit business among men unless he placed it upon a high and dignified plane; giving the men of Greater Boston the best clothing at the regular cash price, not charging one cent more for it than is charged by the big cash stores. Whether you buy directly from him or use his Order Check to purchase elsewhere on credit, Mr. Sallinger strongly advises buying only standard brands of men's clothing, which means brands made by the best known makers in the country — brands of standard value that can be depended upon to give absolute satisfaction in material, workmanship and style —brands that have been standardized because of their uniform, dependable character and values.

In the below ten famous Standard Brands [illegible] styles and weaves. TORIES CLAIM MINISTRY SPLIT ON HOME RULE

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Premier Asquith's compromise offer to the Opposition leaders on the Home Rule bill is being delayed, Tory newspapers declare, by serious dissension within the Cabinet regarding what solution of the question shall be offered.

Winston Spencer Churchill, David Lloyd George, Sir Edward Grey and Viscount Haldane, the Daily Mail says, favor the exclusion of Ulster from the bill; while Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland; Reginald McKenna and Walter Runciman are willing to offer small concessions and are ready to impose Home Rule on Ulster by force of arms.

"It need only be said," adds a Unionist organ, "that the Ulster volunteer force now numbers 90,000 men, zealous to fanaticism, who are armed with 78,000 rifles and are obtaining more daily. Meanwhile Premier Asquith does not show his hand."

EULOGIES FOR MAYNARD HEARD AT LOVE FEAST

Eulogizing President Joseph Maynard of the Democratic City Committee as an able leader of men and wishing him good luck in his new position of Surveyor of the Port of Boston, each chairman of the various ward committees at a dinner tendered them by him at the Quincy House last night urged that he remain head of their organization for two months longer.

The Democratic Committee of Ward 11 was the only one not represented at what Secretary Francis L. Daly of the City Committee designated a "love feast." Thomas Kelly represented Ward 1, Michael Leary, 2, John Mahoney, 3, James J. Hatton, 4, Timothy J. Buckley, 6, Philip J. McGonagle, 8; Christopher J. McCaffrey, 7, William H. Cuddy, 8, Robert Howell, 9, John Purcell, 10, James J. Murphy, 12, Jeremiah J. McNamara, 13, Joseph Norton, 14, John Clancy, 15, Timothy Mooney, 16, Congressman James M. Curley, 17, James P. Timilty, 18, Charles Norton, 19, James Landers, 20, Patrick J. Kennedy, 21, Patrick J. McManus, 22, Patrick J. Brady, 23, John J. Hoar, 24, John J. Bregl, 25, and Dr. J. M. Keegan, 26.

President Maynard called the gathering to order. "I started in the political game when twenty years old," he said. "The work was engaging and fascinating. Now I must leave you. But if I'm not with you in the saddle, I'll be with you in spirit.

"I hope you will continue to stick together in the future as you have in the past. I want to thank the press for the 'square deal' it gave me during my term as head of the committee."

Chairman Brady, of the Ward 23 committee, was toastmaster. Congressman Curley was a speaker.

HERE IS THE PRIZE POEM OF THE YEAR AT WELLESLEY

A SONG OF THE ROAD.

With a book, and a staff by my side,
And a smile in my heart,
And the open road, and the sky as wide
As the sea—and the love of a friend to boot,
Oh, God, is this not a life to suit!

But what if the book should pall,
And the staff be broke,
And the road cut short by a stony wall?
And then—I would look to the sky, and [illegible]
The love of my friend indeed.

But what, oh what, if the friend
Should fail in turn
And I should lose his love in the end?
Pray God, if my friend is not for me,
There be still the sky that's blue
And as wide as the sea and free.

ODDS ARE 10 TO 7 ON HARVARD AS FAVORITE

[illegible] he kicked off with wonderful speed and with precision and booted the ball to a surprising height, as well as having his distance and direction absolutely accurate.

Harvard Men Wondering

Of course the youth may miss the [illegible] tomorrow [illegible] as a matter of course today. [illegible] last Saturday he dropped [illegible] [illegible] Harvard [illegible] good as [illegible].

Guernsey's unexpected performance answered [illegible]. [illegible] this year as [illegible] from Guernsey's work today the Harvard goal will always be in danger when the ball goes into Crimson territory and the prospect will give an additional thrill [illegible] any time in the game.

The youngest [illegible] who has suddenly leaped into football fame was practically unknown outside of New Haven before last Saturday. He is only twenty years old and has not figured [illegible] among the Yale regulars [illegible] headed most of [illegible] team.

After the signal drill the Blue team had some kicking practice. Here was another surprise for Harvard. Knowles, who will do Yale's punting tomorrow, got off some beautiful sixty-yard punts in the face of a slight wind. They had great height and accuracy too. [illegible] tried some punting but did not shine so well in this as he did in drop kicking. Several placement kicks were tried, but were not very successful [illegible].

The Yale Lineup.

The team lined up as it will undoubtedly be played tomorrow. Avery was at left end, Talcott, left tackle, Ketcham, left guard, Marting, centre, Pendleton, right guard, Warren, right tackle, Carter, right end, Wilson, quarterback, Ainsworth and Knowles, halfbacks, and Guernsey, fullback. It is likely that "Red" Brann will substitute for quarter during at least part of the game.

Marting, whose knee was hurt in the Princeton game, appeared to have recovered. Fullback Dunn, who also suffered an injury to his knee last Saturday, followed the players in their practice and got into the play once in awhile. But he limped a bit and it did not appear likely that he would play tomorrow unless for a short time.

Fifty thousand enthusiastic football "fans" poured into Boston today in readiness for the classic Harvard-Yale struggle on the Stadium tomorrow afternoon. It was Crimson here and Blue there, and here, there and everywhere everybody talked Crimson or Blue, or both.

In the hotels, the theatre lobbies, along the streets, folks talked "football talk" and placed wagers in which Harvard was still a 10 to 8 and 10 to 7 favorite over old Eli.

The betting was a big feature today. The bets were of two kinds, first on the big game, and second on the weather. As to this second very vital essential the weather man is noncommittal. The only prediction to be had is "unsettled weather and warmer." As to the longing for clear skies, the betting chances were about even for fair or undesirable weather.

Tickets Very Scarce.

Tickets for the big game over in the Stadium tomorrow are already as scarce in Boston as hens' teeth.

One pair of the pasteboards was today said at the Boston Stock Exchange to have sold over the wire for $60.

Still another pair was offered for $[illegible]. Even then the holder of the tickets who wished to sell them would not tell the number of the tickets. He would only describe their general location.

It was said at the Stock Exchange that it is thought even higher prices are

By A. H. C. MITCHELL

NOVEMBER is preeminently the month of football and from a baseball standpoint it is usually the dullest month in the year. But this year November has [illegible] baseball. The release of Dahlen and the hiring of Robinson as manager of the Brooklyn team; the annual meeting of the American League, the doings of the Comiskey-McGraw combination of world's tourists, the activities of the Federal League and the Players' Federation, and finally the selection of Governor Tener for president of the National League have kept interest in the national game in the foreground in spite of the doings on the football field. As a matter of fact [illegible] of twelve months in the year [illegible] baseball [illegible] played [illegible] largely the reason why this nation is now [illegible] to baseball. It is the biggest sport we have. It interests more people than all the other sports rolled together.

IT is possible that Governor Tener will turn out to be the wrong man to head the National League, but everything points the opposite way. It is expected that he will prove to be the best executive [illegible] organization ever had and it has had a lot of them. The plan to secure Governor Tener's consent to become president of the National League went through without a hitch and much of the credit for his selection must go to President William F. Baker of the Philadelphia club, [illegible] the newest [illegible] National League family. Unknown to baseball Mr. Baker [illegible] stepped in and in a short time [illegible] the biggest [illegible] has seen in many a year.

IT [illegible] club or the [illegible] four years was in the position of making or unmaking a National League president. In [illegible] was pledged to Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh for John A. Heydler. The side of [illegible] Taft, [illegible] the vote and turned it [illegible] position. There was a deadlock and John T. Brush sprang one of the biggest surprises in the history of baseball by suggesting Thomas J. Lynch, the former "king of umpires," who was then elected to the presidency.

ONE of the best informed baseball men is authority for the statement that Governor Tener will draw a salary of $15,000 as president of the National League. He is to have absolute charge of the affairs of the league. [illegible] a baseball man of practical experience years ago he should [illegible] the maze of baseball politics. During his term as Governor Tener will not draw any salary from the league. [illegible] of the conditions [illegible].

THERE are many people who [illegible] talk of making [illegible] Tener president of the National League [illegible]. These people [illegible] do not comprehend that the presidency of either the American League or the National League is a big job worthy the consideration of any man no matter how important a man he is. Baseball is a big business. It interests thousands of people all over the country. The people want to [illegible] that the national game is [illegible]. The National League club owners have done much in the past to [illegible] their own organization, but in securing Governor Tener [illegible] the league they have [illegible] wise thing. Perhaps they will continue to be wise and elect a new president instead of [illegible].

WILBERT ROBINSON'S first move as manager of the Brooklyn team is the suggestion that involves the transfer of Charlie Herzog to the Brooklyn club. [illegible] would be used at shortstop if the deal is completed. Since the release of Bob Fisher to Toronto, the Brooklyn club is left with two candidates for short field, Mowe, a New York State League recruit, and O'Mara of the Fort Wayne team of the Central League.

Hayes and West in Holyoke Go

Grover Hayes of Philadelphia, who made a good showing against Gilbert Gallant a few days ago at Westfield, will be given a chance to show his wares against Chick West of Holyoke in a twelve-round bout at the new Holyoke A. C. Holyoke. While Hayes will have experience on the Holyoke [illegible], West will be boxing in his own town and I should give the Quaker a great contest.

Young Oliver will clash with Young Edwards in the six-round curtain raiser, with Joe Ryan vs. Joe Russell in the second preliminary of six rounds. The ten-round semi-final will bring together K. O. Fultz and Battling Downey.

Head Itched and Burned All the Time. Rash Formed a Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Waterford, Me.—"I had dandruff in my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried ——— and a number of other tonics and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples up I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Luella Lord, May 10, 1913.

COACHES MAY SHIFT LINEUP OF ELI TEAM

Dr. William Bull, one of Yale's chief coaches, said that there might be a change in the Yale lineup against Harvard, but no decision has been reached as yet.

"What Yale's exact lineup will be it is impossible to say," declared Bull. "We are contemplating at least one shift, but this will not be decided on, probably, until the men get out on the field Saturday afternoon."

Believe Yale Will Drop English Stroke

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 21.—Captain T. B. Denegre of the Yale crew has returned from New York, where he held a long conference with the Yale rowing committee concerning the question of changing the coaching methods. No decision was reached, Denegre said.

This was the third conference this week; another will be held next week, at which it is expected final action will be taken. Captain Denegre declined to say what was done at the meeting today. It is generally believed at Yale, however, that English coaching methods will not be retained.

Mack Says Eli Squad Is in Proper Trim

Trainer Johnny Mack of the Yale team said that his men were as fit as a fiddle for tomorrow's battle.

"The men are in first-class trim, much better than it seemed that they could be in after last Saturday's hard game," said Johnny. "But the players were not right up to the edge when they played Princeton, and consequently they have come back fast and strong. I don't believe there will be very much to worry about regarding the condition of the men in Saturday's game."

I., Nov. 21.—Work on the mold for the lead keel of the Vanderbilt syndicate's cup defender candidate has advanced far enough to show that the keel will have a sharper outline than is usual in boats of her class. The mold is twenty-two feet on top, thirteen feet on the bottom and four feet high forward. The greatest weight of the keel will be forward of the center line.

A victory for Newton High in its annual game with Cambridge Latin today will give the Garden City boys the Triangular School League championship.

The teams appear evenly matched on paper and indications are that the game will be close and hard fought. Newton has come to the front strong of late. It defeated Brookline decisively and is confident of a win over the Cantabs today.

Coach Dickerman's boys possess not only a great deal of strength, but also a full knowledge of the tactics of the game. And for these reasons, coupled with the great showing they have made, in spite of the dismal exhibition with Waltham they will enter the game slight favorites.

This does not mean that the Cambridge Latin eleven has no chance to win. On the contrary, Newton will have to travel the limit to register a victory. Coach Dan O'Flaherty, the former Harvard star, has worked wonders with the Latin team since the Rindge game, and it has improved rapidly.

Colgate Elects Captain.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Nov. 21.—W. H. Swarthout, 15, of Geneva, N. Y., has been elected captain of the Colgate football team for next season. Swarthout played a star game this year at fullback.

Cornell Runner Is Out of Big Race

ITHACA, Nov. 21.—If D. S. Potter, the fastest distance man at Cornell since John Paul Jones was graduated, were able to run on Saturday the Cornell cross country team which Coach John Moakley took to New York for the intercollegiate cross country race would have no doubt as to the outcome of the contest. But Potter's ankle, which went back just before the Harvard race, has failed to mend and Moakley could not take him along on the trip because he couldn't run the distance.

Therefore the Ithacans believe they have only a fighting chance against Harvard, as they had last year. Their chances, it is agreed, depend on the running of men like Speiden, Fredericksen, Cadiz and Barke, who are not consistent. Should Speiden and Fredericksen keep up with Hoffmire, the logical possibility for individual honors as far as Cornell is concerned, then Cornell will expect to make a strong claim for first honors.

Dodgers Will Start South on Feb. 20

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Wilbert Robb son, the new manager of the Brooklyn National League team, has announced his training plans for next season. The "rookies" will start for Augusta, Ga., on February 20, and the regulars on March 1. The team will remain in the Southern camp until March 25 and then will wend its way North, playing exhibition games and arrive home on April 8.

Games will be played here with the New York and Philadelphia Americans and the Newarks of the International League. It was stated that Governor Tener of Pennsylvania, who is slated to be the next president of the National League, had promised to throw out the first ball at Ebbets Field next season.

The Spring exhibition is to consist of five games, on April 2, 3, 4, 8 and [illegible] all to be played at Ebbets Field.

More Hard Practice for Penn's Eleven

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Forty-five minutes of hard scrimmage was given the University of Pennsylvania football squad today, the scrubs and regulars tackling each other as though a championship were at stake.

COAST BOXER HERE TO WIN RING HONORS

New England's leading lightweights had better look to their laurels, as Joe Neary of Los Angeles is in our midst, decked out in fresh war paint. Joseph advances the information that he is a regular, big league fighter, and he looks the part. He is a well built, supple limbed youth, and is confident that he is capable of holding his own with the best boys of his weight in this section of the country.

Neary was born in Natick, but went to California seven years ago. He started boxing in four-round contests, and made good from the start. He then began performing over the ten-round route, and showed well, engaging in some hard battles in Southern California and New Mexico.

Neary fought a slashing ten-round tussle with "Bud" Anderson while on the Coast. He is therefore confident that he is a pretty classy performer.

Neary is under the management of Eddie Mack, and the latter declares that after he has defeated several of the lesser lights among the New England 133 pounders, he will be camping on the trail of Eddie Murphy, Matty Baldwin and Gilbert Gallant.

200 Athletes Enter Intercollegiate Run

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—More than 200 athletes have entered for the intercollegiate cross-country championship, which will be held over the Van Cortlandt Park course, near Yonkers, tomorrow afternoon. There are fourteen institutions represented and followers of the sport say that Cornell, Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth have the best teams.

Michigan, the only Western college, is reported to have a fast team. Some experts say she might beat the Easterners in the race for the long-distance running crown.

owley Wins Bout n Toronto Tourney

RONTO, Nov. 21.—In the annual e boxing tournament here M. J. oley of the Boston A. A. easily won decision over F. A. Blackedge of Riversides. Steve Phillips, another on boxer, lost his bout and was disqualified in the first round for hitting Price of the Riversides, while the man was on his knees as the result of Phillips' blow. The first bout was in the 125-pound class and the second in the 118-pound class. W. Jones of the St. Charles A. C. got the decision over O'Connell of Boston in the 112-pound class.

Offer $10,000 on Harvard at 10-7, But Find no Takers

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Despite all talk of Yale having an even chance with Harvard in the big game to be played in the Stadium Saturday, the fact remains that the Crimson is at least a 10 to 7 favorite in the New York betting, and mighty few wagers have been made at even those liberal figures. Even in the face of the fine showing the Blue made against Princeton Harvard's chances are much liked here.

Harvard men in Wall street sprang a surprise on Yale graduates by announcing that [illegible] $10,000 been raised to wager on Harvard at odds of 10 to 7. The announcement failed to arouse any enthusiasm in the Yale camp, as the backers of the Bulldog were of the opinion that they ought to get at least 10 to 6.

Army Scores Twice in Two-Hour Game

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 21.—In a hard driving workout lasting two hours, half of which was devoted to scrimmaging with the scrubs, the Army team scored two touchdowns and kicked one goal from placement here.

There was no let up for the men, despite the unseasonably hot weather, the coaches calling for "more speed" continually. The men responded with a will and wound up the hard grind in splendid physical condition.

McEwan was back at centre. Hodgson's place went to Hobbs, who scored one of the touchdowns on a pretty run around Britton's end for twenty-five yards. Hodge was shoved over for the other score on a line smashing play.

Woodruff made one of his two trials for goals from placement good. He, like Hobbs, is also a 'south foot' kicker and is doing splendid work with this method of the Army's attack.

HARVARD-YALE ELEVENS AWAIT GAME

BLUE DRILLS AT STADIUM; CRIMSON HIKE IN COUNTRY

By SYDE LYNES

Harvard's eleven is in seclusion at the Vesper Country Club at Tyngsboro, and they intend to keep out of range of the gaze of the "profanum vulgus" until Saturday morning, when they come back to Cambridge in time to dress for the game. The Yale squad, on the other hand, after a night of retirement at Woodland Park, make a sortie from their stronghold even as did Caesar of old on the Helvetians, and while the Crimson warriors are far away, the Blue get a whack at the gridiron in the Stadium this morning.

After a good sized breakfast that would have done credit to anyone, a flock of Premier cars whisked the New Haven warriors, chuck full of confidence and fight, off to Soldiers' Field, where they landed about 10 o'clock and, after climbing into the blue uniforms, pranced on to the field and took a shot at the enemy's gridiron.

A thousand pardons, we'll vous plait. We note that our copy back just a' way would seem to indicate that the autos had indulged in a good breakfast. We did not intend to give this idea, for it was the men that ate heartily and not the cars.

A long signal drill was the order of the day for the Eli warriors with plenty of punting practice thrown in to give the backs an opportunity to become accustomed to catching the ball within the confines of the Stadium, for the high lights and sky lines of the Stadium, as we state every time a team does this sort of work in the Stadium, are decidedly different from those on the other team's gridiron.

The Crimson, on the other hand, after eating a good breakfast and getting a bit of football thrown in for them to digest, took a walk over the Country Club course to keep their limbs limbered up and a fairly arduous signal drill was scheduled for the afternoon's work.

This evening they will get the blackboard talk of the season, and again let us state that chalk manufacturers will feel the cockles of their heart warming at the manner in which Head Coach Haughton will consume the chalk sticks. Not inwardly but in scratching on the board. In addition to giving the men additional pointers on the game, this blackboard work is also provided to stimulate the nerve centres of the men. The scratching usually sets on edge the nerves of all human beings and it is figured that by the time the blackboard talk is over everyone will be ready to eat nails to say nothing of mere bull dog hide and flesh.

In the last workout in the Stadium, the Crimson eleven, minus only the services of Frank O'Brien, the versatile end, who is still a little lame, showed an increased speed in charging and a unity of attack along the forward line that cheers the supporters of the Crimson and makes them feel better about the outcome of the game tomorrow.

In the Brown game last week Harvard appeared to be lethargic in the extreme, and the charge was slow and at times slightly disorganized. The work this week has apparently eradicated any tendency to these faults, and the spirit and morale of the team seems to have improved a hundredfold. The shifting of Gilman to guard on the offence seems to make the men get together in harder, more aggressive fashion, while the reversal in the lineup on the defence, when Gilman goes to tackle and Hitchcock climbs into the guard berth, strengthens the line a great deal, and undoubtedly creates the strongest line defensively that Harvard can muster this year.

The work in the Stadium was extremely light, and consisted of a long signal drill, the last chance practically to rub off the rough edges and put the machine in fighting trim. Dana took the left end position, but there is no doubt that O'Brien will be able to start the game tomorrow, the only idea in his being kept out of the work being to spare him as much as possible.

Hardwick was at right end, while Dana held the other wing position, and the tackles were Gilman and Storer. Storer is pretty light this year but there is little question that he will give a good account of himself, for it's his last chance and there's plenty of scrap in the Crimson captain. Hitchcock and Pennock were at guard, and Trumbull, who will unquestionably start the Yale game, was at centre.

Logan ran the eleven and will start the Yale game. His choice of plays is always quick and well reasoned out. He usually shows good judgment and he is running the eleven with precision and snap that gives the team worlds of confidence. The backfield was composed of Bradlee, Mahan and Brickley, all of whom begin the game tomorrow.

Not for many seasons has the Harvard squad on the eve of the big game been on the average in such good condition. Hitchcock and O'Brien are possibly not in as fine shape as might be desired, but they will be there with the punch when the whistle blows. The others are in the pink of condition, and while their physical form is fine, there is not a sign of staleness so well has "Pooch" Donovan the trainer watched and coddled his charges.

The big parade to the Stadium to cheer the team in its last appearance before the game, certainly helped a great deal in inspiring confidence in the eleven by bringing home to them the fact that the undergraduate body is behind them as it has seldom been in years past. There were pretty nearly 4,000 of undergrads and old grads when the crowd assembled in the Stadium, and they conducted themselves in a manner that should make the Bulldog's tail creep between his legs if it is repeated tomorrow. There were cheers for the team and each separate member, the subs and the second team, which incidentally broke training [illegible] with a big spread and after [illegible] songs [illegible] they made their way back to the Square.

Yale's spirit was [illegible] for a [illegible] tour of the suburbs [illegible] this afternoon, and while armor plate is not being provided the men [illegible] will be kept for Harvard sharpshooters that may be lurking in bushes or trees.

Yale Much Better Balanced Eleven, Says 'Hobey' Baker

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Questioned as to the relative strength of the Harvard and Yale elevens, "Hobey" Baker, captain of the Princeton team, said:

"I consider the Yale team a much better balanced organization. Of course, as a whole, the Harvard backfield is superior to Yale's backs, but in Wilson Yale has a better back than any of the Harvard men.

"In any event, the two teams should be well matched and will play a game which a field goal will decide."

Fenno to Have Fast Basketball Five

After a year's absence from basketball circles, the Fenno Five will this year place a team on the floor which will endeavor to uphold the reputation of the former Fenno teams both in games won and clean playing. This year the team will be registered and desires games with the fastest registered and Y. M. C. A. teams in the State. They would like to hear from Newton, Brockton, Boston, Lynn, Reading, Gloucester, Needham, Foxboro, Franklin, Cunningham Gym, Hyde Park, Plymouth, Bridgewater and others in this class.

The boys will undoubtedly represent the Roxbury Y. M. C. A., as they are at present working out at that gym. Among the players available this season are Captain "Chief" Huddleston, "Bill" Alexander, "Tommy" Mundy, Ed. Benson, "Vic" Carpenter and "Googie" Foster all of the 1911 team; Fleming who played centre in 1909, "Bill" Karlson of last year's St. Alphonsus Association, and "Billy" Moran of the 1912 Boylston Five. Any manager desiring a good attraction may arrange for a game by addressing Frank W. Johnson, Mattapan.

Sophomore to Lead Williams Next Year

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 21.—Phillips M. Payson of Portland, Me., has been elected captain of the Williams football team for next year. The election came as a great surprise. Payson is a member of the sophomore class.

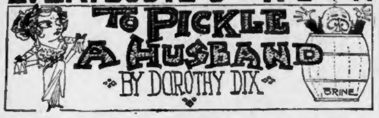
EVERYBODY'S COOK BOOK
TO PICKLE A HUSBAND
BY DOROTHY DIX



A DISH much in favor in many households is pickled husband, which may be served at any meal, although the majority of wives seem to relish it as a tidbit late at night, just before going to sleep.

Almost any kind of a husband may be pickled by a wife who is a real industrious trouble hunter and conscientious about doing her full duty about bossing her family and looking carefully after its ways.

The best husbands to pickle, however, are the good-natured, easy-going sort (genus rounder), although there is a small, meek variety (genus henpeckis) that have a very fine flavor also, and are much easier to pickle.

To prepare this delicious condiment to married life first select your husband. Pay especial attention to this, for some husbands can't be pickled at all, and when you try to pickle them they run all over the place and make an awful mess. Therefore be very careful on this point, for to the great majority of women the domestic menu would be flat and tasteless except for the unfailing supply of pickled husband they always keep in the cupboard.

Select then, if it be possible, a nice, fat, juicy, thin-skinned husband who is fond of gayety and has many friends. If he thinks he knows how to play poker so much the better. Smell his breath, and if it has an odor that resembles an old pipe and a glass of stale beer you may be sure that you have secured a luscious specimen for pickling.

If you cannot get this kind of a husband, almost any sort of a busy, hard working husband of the species Americanis Boobis will do, but pains must be taken to avoid husbands with square jaws and pale blue eyes, especially if the features are accompanied by red hair, as this species defy the most heartfelt efforts of any wife to pickle them.

Having secured your husband, take him home and begin the pickling process by first salting him down in brine, in order to melt down any backbone he may happen to have, and to make him into a perfect mush of acquiescence. It has been proven by millions of housewives, who have tried it, that nothing so completely takes the stamina and fight out of a man as tears.

So begin with the process of disintegration on your husband by weeping over him. Turn the domestic hydrant on him morning, noon and night. Weep over him because you can't have this, and you can't have that. Weep when the soup is salty; weep when your new dress doesn't fit; weep when he comes home ten minutes late to dinner; weep when his mother comes to see you; weep when he won't take you to the theatre; burst into perfect floods of tears if he dares to criticise anything you do or say, or that your mother does or says. Keep the water spout going continuously until the whole atmosphere of your home is so damp and foggy and sticky that it will give anybody rheumatism of the heart and sciatica of the disposition.

Persist in the salt water treatment until you perceive that your husband is getting web-footed, so that he is afraid to make a move lest he should inadvertently step on some of your precious little feelings, and so precipitate another downpour. You can also perceive when he is becoming sufficiently gelitudinous to pickle by sticking the pitchfork into him now and then. If he answers back he needs another barrel of tears poured over him, but if he returns no back talk he is in fit condition to proceed with the further processes of pickling.

Then prick him all over with a sharp tongue. Make the gashes as deep as you can by saying all the things that will cut him to the quick, to the heart. Some women hold that the best way to do this is by taunting a man with his failures, and telling him how much better some other man provides for his family than he does, and how Mrs. Jones' wife has a limousine and diamonds, while they have to ride on the street car and use safety pins for ornaments.

Other women contend that the best way to gash a husband with a tongue is to hold forth upon his weaknesses, and to rip him up the back, and slash him crossways about the time he came home after he had made a night with the boys, or the poker game in which he lost fifty dollars, or the old friend he lent some money to who never repaid him.

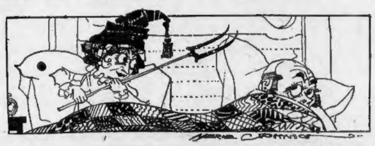
Undoubtedly both of these plans are excellent, but the great majority of wives content themselves with mere superficial tongue pricks, technically known as nagging, about the ten thousand little things of everyday life, and this is probably the best method of all, because it is so thorough and does not leave a single particle of the cuticle of a husband that has not been sacrificed.

Having reduced the husband to a pulp by soaking him in brine, and having thoroughly pricked him with a sharp tongue, now souse him in a mixture made as follows:

Take five gallons of the vinegar of temper, the more acid the better, a quart of the gall of jealousy, a half pound of the paprica of spite, two ounces of the seeds of doubt, and spice it up to taste with suspicion, insinuations and recriminations; throw in enough selfishness to color it all a dark bilious green, and stew the husband in this brew for some twenty or thirty years, at the end of which time he will be found to be as sour as any wife could wish.

Pickled husband is strictly a family dish, though occasionally it is served up for company. Its chief use, however, is as a nightcap for women. Many wives are so addicted to it that they could not go to sleep unless they had partaken of a large slice of it just before they go to bed.

If these directions for making pickled husband are not sufficiently explicit, brides may obtain further information by observing the methods of almost any married woman of their acquaintance.



Beauty and "the Green Monster"
Don't Be Jealous if You Want to Be Beautiful, Says Dorothy Jardon

By MAUDE MILLER

THERE is a girl on the stage who is so attractive that the attraction of one particular feature does not stand out, but is merged into one alluring whole. She is so wonderful that with her first appearance on the stage a current of electricity runs like fire through the audience. And when you ask yourself what there is about her after you have had time to somewhat collect your senses, you are nowhere nearer solving the problem then you were before. Beauty is there, but you have perhaps seen beautiful woman before without her strange attraction.

HER SECRET

This is exactly how Miss Dorothy Jardon impressed me, and when I asked her what she did to bewitch people she told me that it was something she would like to share with every one, because it was in very truth a beauty secret that every one could use.

Miss Dorothy Jardon

"If I am attractive to people it is because I have gained personality through not being jealous. Jealousy is the bugbear of the American women. I have never seen anything like the way that they allow it to play upon their nerves and perhaps to bring a storm of tears in its wake. Tears wash away more than a heartache, so don't indulge if you want to fight off Father Time.

"In the first place jealousy, lodged in the human breast and allowed full sway, preys upon the whole nervous system. And when the nerves are all unstrung, the digestive system comes in for a general upsetting. The stomach is affected, the appetite goes, and the energy that should be expended upon the cares and problems of everyday life is absolutely given over to the green-eyed monster. So much for this part of beauty's undoing.

GIVES HER COLDS

"A woman who is subject to fits of jealousy is constantly exposing herself to colds. Every jealous fit overheats the blood and is therefore very weakening. And as for facial characteristics. Watch the jealous woman and read her trouble in her eyes, which are cold, hard and restless, not tender and alluring as a woman's eyes should be. Watch the expression of her mouth and the decided lines in her face and ask yourself if she can be attractive to anyone. Her women friends know her failing and laugh at her behind her back because she lets it dominate her. And as for being attractive to men, she has made this forever impossible. A woman must appeal to a man through another woman, or not at all!

"And so we must all fight against this jealousy, which is a universal failing. Some of us succumb to it easily, some only for real cause, and some, not at all, for it affects every one differently. But fight against it we must, if we wish to establish a beauty record of any kind among American women."

THE FAMILY CUPBOARD
A Thrilling Story of High Society Life in New York, Adapted from Owen Davis' Dramatic Success

(From Owen Davis' play now being presented in New York by William A. Brady—Copyright, 1913, by International News Service.)

SHE would not be forgotten while blood called to blood, while Nature had her way with a man and his first-born son. Kitty May made her little plea for recognition as a sufferer in the tragedy—not as the cause thereof. Her voice was plaintive and sweet—she took a martyr tone. Injured innocence was still her cue in this travesty she had prepared.

"You love him—in spite of what he did. I know. I loved him in spite of what he did—to me!"

So Kitty strove with the tale of her own "wrongs" to counteract the wrong of that blow from son to father.

"Don't! Don't!" moaned Kenneth.

With a strength that can endure a blow—with the strength that has learned through its own weakness to understand all weakness, Charles Nelson spoke to the boy whose blow had just marked his face. Father to son—man to man he spoke. But the supreme quality in his voice was the loving patience a strong man must feel for a child who suffers through mistakes he could not meet unguided.

"Kenneth, do you care to come with me?"

The boy lifted his miserable, shamed head.

"No—I can't. But I—I'm sorry I did—that."

The boy raised his burning eyes; then he groped upward with one hand. Charles Nelson took that hand stretching toward him half in fear, half in sorrow. He clasped it firmly—so that some of his strength and understanding leaped from his strong, warm palm to the boy's clammy hand. The mark of the blow was passing, but the man's face looked tired and old; the blow from son to father had seared its way in his soul—had told him how deep was the suffering caused by his own mistake of the years gone by.

Still holding the kneeling boy's hand, he spoke to his son:

"The day will come when both you and I will be brave enough to be glad you did—that. That blow is going to give me back my son. It is going to open your eyes and make you give up this life and this woman."

He loosed his hold on Kenneth's hand. The boy staggered to his feet, stood swaying for a moment in weakness like that of delirium—and then groped his way to the great arm chair by the table.

He was like a swimmer spent by a struggle for life in a stormy sea, from whose engulfing waters he had dragged himself with the [illegible]. "Many waters cannot quench love"—but they can drown youth and hope and happiness.

Kenneth stared in dazed wonder at the great table littered with the souvenirs of youth and folly. There were cigarettes in a case of silver—his father's gift. There were gloves and a scarf of English weave, bought from the allowance his father had given him—and pipes and a silver key ring, and his thin gold watch of fine Swiss movement—all, all paid for by the toil and freely given money of the father he had struck!

He pushed the litter of silver and silk, of gold and gaudy trifles, of scented notes in Kitty's hand, and of daring new novels, aside. Then in the space he had made he laid his trembling arms, and crouching slowly forward, buried his shamed eyes from the sight of the father he had just rewarded—with a blow!

Kitty stood alone—an alien—on the other side of the room.

"You said that you didn't blame me—that no decent man could blame me."

She ventured the remark with brazen daring. She was testing the strength of her hold on Kenneth Nelson.

The men seemed not to hear her.

Nelson came a step closer to his boy. For a moment he seemed ready to lay his hand on the boy's bowed head. Love was there, but dignity remembered its dues, and the blow given and forgiven; forgiven but not forgotten.

If love had triumphed. If Charles Nelson had laid his hand with a father's feeling on that bowed head his story might have had a different ending. Father and son together—and the world forgotten! Who knows?

Nelson laid his hands on the high back of the great winged chair and leant a little nearer to the boy, whose stricken form lay across the table. But he did not touch Kenneth. The bond between them was one of words. And words are cold things—when a boy is left to the wiles of a Kitty May.

"Ken," said his father, "you are going to do a lot of thinking—beginning right now. You are going to remember—[illegible] that it was I who gave you the life you are wasting, but the love we always had for one another. What good friends we used to be—father and son—and friends, too, boy, from the time you could first toddle along with your clinging little hand in mine. You are going to remember that I worked hard to gratify every wish of your heart [illegible] and that you repaid me [illegible] with a blow."

The strong man—the "hard man" his wife had called him—stopped speaking for a moment. He was struggling for the strength to finish with quiet composure.

"That is going to hurt—that memory—but in the end it is going to open your eyes."

Fascinated—but unseen—before the [illegible] she had evoked Kitty May had crept closer to the two men. Her eyes were fixed and staring. Her fingers were fumbling with a little lace-bordered handkerchief. There was a startled light in her widening blue eyes. Her lips were parted in a little foolish smile—and she was mumbling softly—almost incoherently—and to deaf ears.

"I love you, Ken—honest, I do!"

Poor little Vampire that thought to prey upon men—she was not a vampire after all—only a weak little butterfly, with soiled and drooping wings—a weak little butterfly that might live for one day—and that had found her brief day stormy! A butterfly on a rainy day—after all, that is a bitterly sad sight.

But just now Kitty was roused from the [illegible] of memory and vision. If only Charles Nelson had remembered her power! For there is a poison butterfly—and the men who know of it call it "the death that flies by night."

Quite as if she had never interrupted, Nelson went on:

THE KING OF DIAMONDS
BY LOUIS TRACY
A THRILLING STORY OF A MODERN MONTE CRISTO

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

Copyright, 1904, by Edward J. Clode.

THE one man stood, the other sat, gazing at each other in a silence that was thrilling.

Dr. Search and the hotel manager entered noiselessly and closed the door behind them. Grenier, adroit scoundrel that he was, was bereft of speech, of the power to move. He harbored no delusions. This was no ghost coming to trouble his soul in broad daylight. It was Philip Anson himself, alive, and in full possession of his senses, a more terrible apparition than any visitor from beyond the grave. His presence in that room meant penal servitude for life for Victor Grenier, a prison cell instead of palatial chambers, bread and skilly in place of Carlton luncheons.

No wonder the scoundrel was dumb, that his tongue was dry. He went cold all over, and his eyes swam.

Philip advanced toward him. Grenier could not move. He was glued to his chair.

"Who are you?" said Anson sternly.

No answer. As yet the man's brain refused to work. Lost, ruined—no escape—were the vague ideas that jostled each other in chaos.

"Can you not speak? Who are you that dares to usurp my name, after striving to murder me?"

No answer. The shifty eyes—the eyes of a detected pickpocket—wandered stupidly from Philip's set face to that of the perplexed hotel manager, and the gravely amused doctor.

Philip never used strong language, but he was greatly tempted at that moment.

"Confound you!" he shouted. "Why don't you answer me?"

"I—I—my name is Philip Anson. The manager—the—bank—"

As a spent fox will vainly try the last despairing device of climbing a tree in full sight of the hounds, so did Victor Grenier evolve the desperate scheme that perhaps—perhaps—he might carry out a feeble pretense of self-assertion.

If only he could get away, into the crowded stations, into the streets, sink into obscurity while the chase swept past, he might yet endeavor to escape.

"You Philip Anson! You vile impostor! I am sorely inclined to wring your neck."

Philip came nearer. In sheer fright lest the other might give effect to his words Grenier again pushed his chair violently. It caught against a thick rug and he fell headlong. For an instant they all thought he had hurt himself seriously.

The doctor and manager ran to pick him up, but he rose to his knees and whined:

"I will tell everything. I mean there is some mistake. Look at my letters, my bank books. They are Philip Anson's. Indeed, there is a mistake."

On the table were many documents and a pile of banknotes. Everything was in order, neatly pinned and docketed. A number of telegrams, of which the topmost was signed "Evelyn," caught Philip's eye. He took them up. Not only were his betrothed's messages preserved, but copies of Grenier's replies were inserted in their proper sequence.

And Evelyn's letters, too, lay before him. He flushed with anger as he read.

"Oh," he cried, in a sudden blaze, "if I talk with this scoundrel I shall do him injury. Send for the police. They will know how to deal with him."

What Thin Folks Should Do to Gain Weight

Physician's Advice for Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on-creams, resign themselves to lifelong skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strengthening, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitaliser, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

What ordinary soaps do to the skin

ORDINARY toilet soap makes your skin look white and clean to the naked eye—but look at it through a magnifying glass. You will find that the "free" alkali, which ordinary soap contains, has roughened, irritated and parched your skin; and this may in time cause blotches, pimples, blackheads and other skin troubles.

Resinol Soap cleans, soothes and protects the skin

You need a soap which not only cleans your skin, but also soothes, heals and protects it—that is why you should get a cake of Resinol Soap from your druggist. This pure and delightful toilet soap contains the same medication as Resinol Ointment, the standard prescription for skin troubles. It therefore affords an antiseptic protection to the skin, which merely pure soap does not do. Resinol Soap keeps the skin in a clean, healthy condition and insures a clear, natural complexion.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For trial size of each free, write to Dept. 16-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

POSTUM

This pure food-drink, made of prime wheat and the juice of southern sugar-cane, is absolutely free from the coffee drug, caffeine—the cause of coffee troubles.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A spoonful dissolved in a cup of hot water, with sugar and cream to taste, makes a delicious beverage instantly.

BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL NEWS EDITED BY EXPERTS

Latest in Today's Stock Markets

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks were stronger on the whole this afternoon than at the opening, but the improvement was more marked in New York than in this city. In Boston soon after midday Boston & Maine was off 1½ and New Haven ⅝, while United Fruit had declined 1¼. Alaska Gold had receded ¾, to 18⅞, and Butte & Superior, which had been quite active, was 1⅝ lower. Calumet & Arizona was down a point. American Telephone was a shade higher, and Granby and Lake showed fractional gains.

At that period in New York Lehigh Valley was up 1¼, and fractional advances had been attained by Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading, American Can and Steel. Chesapeake & Ohio was off 1, Rumely preferred 2 and New Haven 1⅛. Amalgamated had declined ⅝, and American Smelting ½. Erie had shaded.

No Change in Market Conditions.

There was no change in market conditions when business began trading, being quiescent, and the trend uncertain. Most active issues yielded a little, the recession being due more to dullness than to pressure. There continued to be an absence of liquidation, but at the same time there was no investment buying apparent. Professionals had about abandoned the attempt to galvanize the market unaided.

Although there was more business at the start and throughout the morning than for several days, the market was about as sluggish as ever. Prices fluctuated by fractions of small calibre and the tone was listless rather than weak. There were reports of further price concessions by electrolytic sellers in London, where warrants slumped, and this made copper stocks a weak group in New York. The marked decline in Rumely preferred was attributed to unsatisfactory earnings. After being guaranteed sufficient working capital the company has had to contend against difficulties engendered by a contraction of the country's trade.

Americans Neglected Abroad.

There was not much speculation in home securities in European markets and Americans were among the foreign stocks neglected abroad. In London most all were lower at the close. But Erie, Pennsylvania, Reading and Union Pacific were higher there. It was said in New York that there was accumulation on this side of Union Pacific and Reading by strong houses. The alleged buying of Amalgamated by "inside interests" did not elevate its price.

One dispatch from that market said: The market tone was influenced to a great extent by the unexpectedly large borrowing demand after the close yesterday. Commission houses had buying orders, but in most cases these were at limits which could not be executed because of the moderate price movements.

St. Louis and Frisco Relations.

There was a great deal of talk in trading circles about the scandalous revelations in connection with St. Louis and San Francisco and the consensus of opinion was that what is being made public will not strengthen roads in pleas for an advance in freight rates. It is feared the public and commissions will think that methods of managements in making large personal profits are a factor as well as the increased cost of operating roads. The selling of New Haven, which declined sharply, was due to a belief that the dividend rate will be reduced. There was free selling of Alaska Gold which went below 19. Its decline was the most interesting feature of the Boston market.

The government issued a cotton ginning report indicating that this year's crop would be the second largest ever raised. Prior to November 14 and from this season's growth 10,434,387 bales were ginned. This should have been a bull factor for stocks, but it had little bearing upon prices.

Price Range Worked Higher.

At the end of an hour prices were irregular, but the tone improved in the last half of the morning and later. By afternoon most railroads were higher in New York and Steel showed a trifling gain. Reports from the steel manufacturing centres reiterated reports that business is slackening. There was nothing in the Mexican situation which altered the market situation. Uncertainty as to what will happen there continued to restrict commitments.

The money market was unchanged, call rates being 3 per cent. or less, and there being no alteration in quotations for time money. Known movements for the week indicate a gain in cash by New York banks of $5,828,347. The banks gained $8,849,240 from the interior and lost $3,025,000 upon sub-treasury operations, not including the $500,000 taken from the latter for shipment to Canada.

Financial News in Brief.

At the morning call in the London copper warrants market spots was off 17s. 6d. and futures 15s. At the close spot was 7s. 6d. and futures 5s. lower. Sales were 500 tons of spot and 1,500 of futures.

It is said the government has information that efforts of President Elliot for reorganization of the New Haven to comply with the anti-trust law requirements have not been fully supported by the road's directors.

The Dock County Sugar Co. is to soon close its Janesville, Wis., plant and the new tariff law is blamed. The plant employs 200 men.

German sales of steel in this country are being facilitated by export bounties.

Baltimore & Ohio's net operating revenue decreased $681,890 for October. The decrease for four months was $87,164. October operating revenue decreased $70,392, and total operating expenses increased $611,498.

A SOUR STOMACH GAS, INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all Stomach distress in five minutes—Time it!

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

FACT AND COMMENT IN FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. FORBES, Business Editor.

Are there bodies of rich knaves too big to pass inside prison doors?

* * *

That is a question ordinary folks cannot be blamed for asking. Another question they are beginning to ask is:

How long can corporation officials go on robbing the public without being punished AFTER BEING CONVICTED?

* * *

To merely fine a corporation does not inconvenience the guilty individuals in the least—the stockholders, entirely innocent parties, have to put their hands into their pockets for the fine. The swindlers go free.

* * *

Just read these extracts from the Associated Press report of yesterday's proceedings at St. Louis.

> ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—The story of how the St. Louis and San Francisco (Frisco Railroad) was aided toward a receivership by the "dream of empire" of its chief executive by the purchasing of "feeder" lines from syndicates in which Frisco officers were at the same time buyers and sellers, and by general extravagance at the expense of the stockholders was resumed here when the Interstate Commerce Commission opened the third day of its hearing.
>
> The amount of syndicate profits through the promotion of subsidiary lines and their sale to the parent road was brought today to $7,403,000.

* * *

Then what do you think of this news item printed a few days ago? McDERMOTT FINED FOR WATER MILK.

> The McDermott Dairy Company, which has a main office in West Forty-second street, New York, and numerous branches, was fined $1,000 in special sessions yesterday for offering adulterated milk for sale.
>
> Health Inspector M. J. Vrieling testified he found milk on the company's wagons adulterated with water on three occasions.

Can you name any meaner form of robbery than that? Think of it, selling water to poor people at seven or eight cents a quart. Thus, instead of babes being given milk, as their mothers believed, they were being treated to a supply of water. A noble procedure! An honorable procedure! What cared the company if its cheating of babes, if its substitution of water for milk as a diet meant the starvation of hundreds of infants, hopeless, defenceless, speechless mites?

* * *

But, of course, nobody went to jail for this murderous conduct. Oh, no. Do you see it was not a penniless peddler or a small, friendless retailer that was guilty? Let a starving beggar steal a cent's worth and how promptly he will be thrown into prison. There is no ceremony, no consideration, no sympathy, in that case. It is jail, and jail quickly.

* * *

But the milk company, though convicted of as despicable a species of theft as can be conceived, since it tended to kill infants, was merely fined $1,000. It would not take many gallons of water at 7 or 8 cents a quart to pay that paltry punishment and leave a big profit for the robbers.

* * *

Is it not a crying shame that guilt in all such cases—in all corporation cases—is not brought home to INDIVIDUALS, and the individuals placed where they belong, behind prison bars?

* * *

The revelations of graft in the 'Frisco will astonish no one conversant with the history of the road, and of those who became rich through their association with it. The American discussed in very, very plain terms the collapse of the 'Frisco road at the time it occurred. Some of the statements then made brought censure from persons in high places. But, fortunately, the American is tied to nobody's shoestrings. It cannot be "called off" by wrongdoers, no matter how rich or influential they may be. Not one word said then was taken back, nor need it be taken back now.

Jails 'Drug Fiend' So He May Be Cured

Barney Clancey, thirty-five, a confessed "dope fiend," was today sentenced by Judge Cohen in the Municipal Court to four months in the Charles street jail for violation of his probation. J. Frank Chase of the Watch and Ward Society told Judge Cohen the jail was the only place where the defendant could be compelled to stay and could have proper treatment for his case. Chase said Sheriff Quinn had at the jail a large cell where users of drugs are placed and treated daily by experts.

Pianos and Musical Instruments. Pianos and Musical Instruments.

WHEN IS A PIANO NOT A PIANO?

Many a piano bargain, so called, is NEITHER A BARGAIN NOR A PIANO. Whatever you pay for it, YOU OVERPAY.

You don't buy a piano every week, nor every year. When you do buy one, GET A PIANO WORTH HAVING. GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH. Get AN INSTRUMENT, NOT A TIN PAN!

To deserve its name, a piano must produce TONE, NOT NOISE. It must be an ORNAMENT, NOT AN EYE-SORE. And it must be DURABLE, LASTING.

But because we speak of Quality, do not overlook the fact that OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST IN BOSTON for the grade of instruments offered.

Man on the Wing Surpasses the Birds Already

We Can Easily Imagine What He Will Do in the Next Few Centuries.

Copyright, 1913, by Star Company.

Twenty years ago and less the man who talked about flying was laughed at, that is to say, by men of no imagination. Intelligent men have known that men would fly long before Virgil wrote his lines, "Daedalus, ut fama est, fugiens Menoia regna praepetibus pinnis ausus se credere coelo"——

(Excuse this erudition.)

Langley and many others who had worked at the flying machine died bitterly disappointed. Then it came suddenly.

When it appeared the usual idiots—a healthy working majority, needless to say—predicted that it would never be REALLY useful and that man could never REALLY control it.

Many years ago this newspaper predicted that man would very soon fly as rapidly as the birds fly, and fly at the rate of a thousand miles—the rate of speed at which the sun seems to go around the earth—before long.

This was denounced as ridiculous even by gentlemen engaged in flying. But already man DOES fly faster than any bird, and, stranger still, in certain ways at least, HE FLIES AS NO BIRD COULD FLY, NAMELY, UPSIDE DOWN.

Those of us who have raised tumbler pigeons remember the eccentric flight of those queer birds rolling over and over in the air. But no tumbler pigeon, no eagle, no bird of any kind can do what the Frenchman, Pegoud, has done.

Pegoud turns his machine over and makes it fly on its back. He flies straight down and straight up.

And now comes along another Frenchman, Maurice Chevilliard, who does more wonderful things than Pegoud can do.

He flies upside down without being tied to his machine. Chevilliard does remarkable feats of turning, twisting and flying upside down within a few feet of the ground, proving marvellously perfect control of his machine.

He and the other Frenchman can do what no other bird can do already with an imperfect machine.

Imagine what the airmen of the future will do when the problem of wireless power shall have been solved and the man aloft will have, if he chooses, a thousand horsepower or ten thousand horsepower to run his light machine.

Observe, by the way, that both these wonderful men are FRENCHMEN, also that the French were the first to recognize our own wonderful geniuses, the Wright brothers. The brothers had to go to Paris in order to be taken seriously and recognized.

Observe that Chevilliard, who does these wonderful things, is a Frenchman, BIG, POWERFUL, HUGE IN BUILD—and get rid of your foolish ideas about the French nation if you happen to have any.

It does us all good to realize the qualities of others. And it will do us good to realize that the French, who inherited the genius of Greece and Rome, have been leaders in this world since the days of Charlemagne—leaders in thought, in mental and moral courage, in war, in machinery, in extraordinary physical daring, in automobile making, in flying machine work, in everything else that requires a brain that acts on the second and is not afraid.

It is a pity we do not have more Frenchmen coming to this country.

And it is no wonder that France—nation of concentrated power—is the richest country in the world, lending money in thousands of millions to other countries and giving ideas to the world in addition to lending the world money.

The quotation from Virgil, above, reads more fully as follows:

"Daedalus, ut fama est, fugiens Menoia regna, praepetibus pinnis ausus se credere coelo insuctum per iter gelidas enovit ad arctos Calchidicaque levis tandem super astit arce."

A free translation by Connington is:

"Daedalus, so runs the legend, flying from Minos' sceptre, dared to trust himself in air on swift wings of his own workmanship, sailed to the cold north along an unwonted way, and at last stood, buoyant, on the top of this Euboean hill."

Boston Endorses the AMERICAN'S Proposal to Build a Battleship Here

It is apparent that everybody in Boston endorses the AMERICAN'S proposal that our navy yard ought to be given the task of building a battleship.

Boston is "coming back" and we who built "Old Ironsides" want to build another great defender of our nation on the sea.

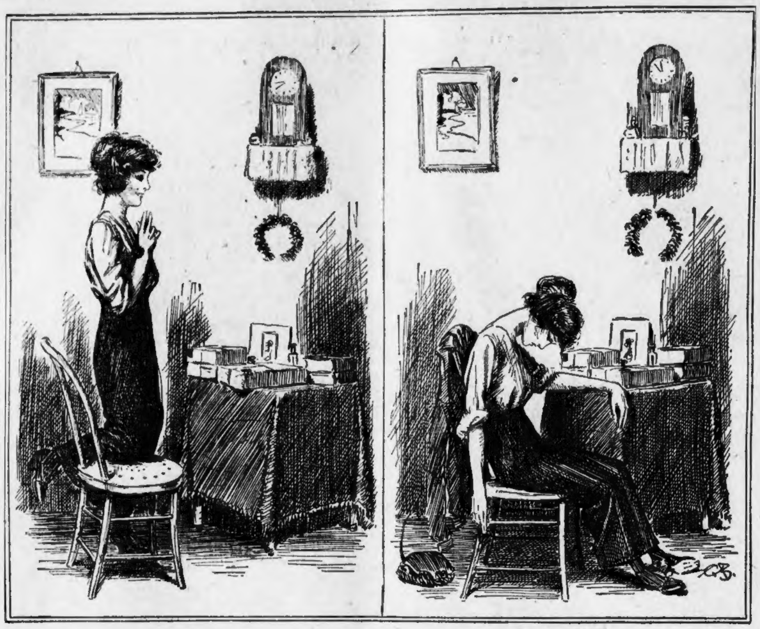
Why crowd all the goverament work into one or two favored navy yards?

Is it not better to have several plants capable of constructing a battleship?

In the unhappy event of war with a great power, it would probably develop into a naval contest. Such struggles are often cautious and protracted.

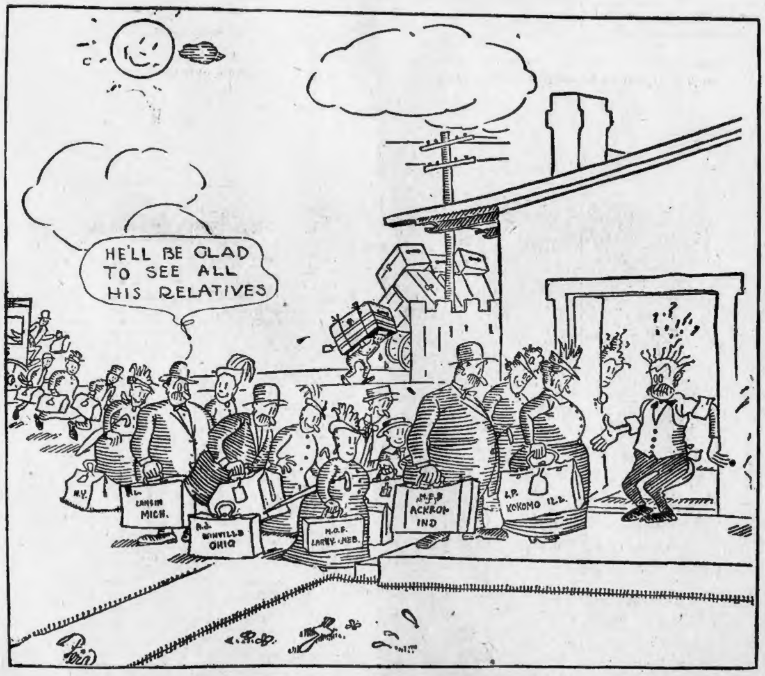
Then every additional navy yard capable of building a battleship would stand our country in good stead.

The Shopgirl's Christmas Eve



It's up to you to decide which she shall have. By shopping early you benefit both the salesgirl and yourself. By shopping in a rush the day before Christmas you deprive yourself of time and choice and place an unnecessary burden on those who wait upon you.

To Stay Over Thanksgiving



HIS LOVE

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

HIS love was like the red, red rose;
She walked in beauty like the night;
Hers was the lily's sweet repose;
She was a vision of delight.
No sweeter flower ever grew;
She was a nymph, a woodland fay;
Their partings always made him blue,
And so he married her one day.

The swift years whirled in dizzy flight;
His love grew cranky, stern and thin.
She walked in beauty like the night,
Armed with a maple rolling pin.
Such is the fate of many a sport,
From humble clerk to pompous earl,
Who lets the poets help him court,
And steals their lines to tell his girl.

Real Objection to the Prize Fight

By REV. C. F. AKED, D. D.

This article, while written particularly to fit the California situation, broadly applies also wherever ring fighting is permitted.

THE real objection to the prizefight is not the injury which the two fighters do to each other. If that were the head and front of the offending it would be difficult to arouse a powerful public sentiment against it. The average citizen would be disposed to say that two big bullies had given each other a good thrashing which both richly deserved; and as he was not able to do it, and nobody else either, he was, on the whole, rather pleased that they should do it to each other. So long as they kept themselves out of sight and satisfied their savagery without annoying decent persons, very little harm would be done. But the case with prizefighting is very different.

The objection to a prizefight lies in the mischief which the fight does to those who are not fighting. The brutal exhibition brutalizes the men and boys who glory in it. The more brutal the exhibition the more they delight in it. The more they delight in it the worse men they become. Bad men make bad citizens. And no city and no community can afford to breed a race of brutal citizens.

What happened in Bakersfield last March when Jack Martin received the blow that killed him? A Los Angeles paper describes the scene. "After the death of the pugilist his body was carried out of the hall and the entertainment proceeded with a whoop, much as a Mexican bullfight goes on after the fall of a bull." And the report adds: "Those who have studied the faces of a typical prizefight crowd will not wonder at the Bakersfield occurrence. It was typical."

Precisely. And before those lines were printed I had studied for myself the faces of a "typical prizefight crowd" here in this city of San Francisco. And I do not wonder at the Bakersfield "occurrence," nor at the Los Angeles "occurrence" nor at any foulness of life of which the prizefighting mobs are convicted. A brilliant Frenchman, a Parisian, a man of travel and culture, saw the English "Derby." And he wrote: "Can there be in the whole world such a dirty, hooting, swearing, brazen-throated, foulmouthed crowd to be seen?" Yes, certainly; unless it be for the matter of dirt the English race course brutes can be matched at a prizefight in San Francisco and Los Angeles, in Bakersfield and Sacramento.

The wickedness of a city, its knavery, its thievery, its immorality and nameless vices gather round the prize ring. And there our young men and youths are corrupted. There they associate with the vilest of men. There they become vile themselves. It is infinitely pathetic to see boys from good homes, finely reared, college bred, who are paying their money to see two men batter each other about the head and breast. It is not less pathetic to realize that these two are doing it for money. Human beings, our fellows, made of the same flesh and blood and human spirit as ourselves, are hiring themselves out to hurt and be hurt, for dollars. Their brutality is not a sport. It is a trade. But the saddest thing of all is the reflection that a democracy, which depends for its success upon the character of its members, deliberately, by law and the administration of law, encourages that which disintegrates and destroys character and everywhere hampers the development and progress and prosperity of democracy.

Round the prize ring are produced the voters, ignorant, vicious, unprincipled, who can be safely depended upon at any time of crisis to cast their ballots against anything and everything which looks toward the amelioration of social conditions and the improvement of human character.

Of course, California ought to put a stop to the prizefight. And the Legislature would have done so, and prizefighting would have been extinct in this State some months ago if the legislators who tried to stop it had received proper backing. Senator Brown's bill ought to have carried. It came within two votes of success.

Legislators who had done well in other moral causes grew weary in well doing. They allowed themselves to be coerced by the bugaboo of "freak legislation." Everything they attempted for the good of the community was denounced as "freak." They were freaks if they wanted to keep the saloon away from the university; freaks if they wanted to give power to the citizens to abate the nuisance of the brothel; freaks if they wanted to secure a living wage for women; freaks if they wanted to close saloons from two o'clock till six! And, in addition, they would ruin the exposition. Nobody would come to San Francisco in 1915 if they could not get drunk after two o'clock in the morning! And the worst freaks of all were those who wanted to stop the wholesale demoralization of youths and young men by the prizefight.

So the legislators were frightened. Men who should have voted right stayed away from the final vote. And Brown's bill was lost.

If the Examiner succeeds in rallying the opinion which sought to have supported the bill last Spring the doom of the prizefight will be sealed.

Meanwhile, an initiative measure has been prepared by the Federation of Churches of Los Angeles. It is supported by the Federation of Churches of San Francisco. The necessary signatures are being secured. The people will be asked to express their judgment—and the prize ring will be a thing of the past.

This prizefight is an offence. It is a legacy of the old evil times. It is a gift to us by the English aristocracy. It was the sport of "swells," not of the English people. All vices begin at the top and work downward to the bottom. The sport of English swells has become the trade of California toughs. It is a hateful and degrading business. The supervision could end it. Let San Francisco lead!

THE SOLUTION

By EDMUND LEAMY

I'VE wanted to get married and I've asked a lot of girls,
And some of them were pretty, with a wealth of golden curls;
A few of them were homely, which mattered not a jot,
And one or two had money, but they nearly all had not.
They none would love for love alone, and what had I to give?
They answered me, "These present days it costs SO much to live."
The one or two with money said they surely did not care
To share their wealth with any one, not even on the square;
And all of them informed me of the cost of all their clothes,
And as my courage sank and sank the prices rose and rose,
Till I again was in the slough of sorrow deep and cold
And cursed the cost of living and the lack of honest gold.
I've wanted to get married, and I'm going to married be;
I'm going to take a little boat and sail 'way cross the sea;
I'm going to ask a Fiji girl in those far isles divine
To leave her native lovers and to come and just be mine,
For Fiji girls care not for clothes—their only dress is paint—
And out in those delightful isles the cost of living ain't!

ABSENCE

By CONSTANCE CLARKE

DREAM-laden sleep hangs heavy on the flowers
Down where the lilies sway—
Night tolls her slowly passing hours,
Love, we have lost a day.

Into that dim and far away tomorrow
Drift I, yet linger here—
For of its store of hours I may not borrow,
Love, we have lost a year.
